KEPHART WILL FACE GRAND JURY AT THE CAPITAL SATURDAY

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 21.—The most important legal battle in Pennsylvania since the capital graft trial was under way today with the criminal prosecution of ex-State Treasurer Harmon W. Kephart who is charged with failure to properly keep the accounts of his department while in office. In spite of adroit legal skirmishing Mr. Kephart must face the Grand Jury on Saturday, Sept. 23rd, at which time that body is expected to indicate the former state official. Efforts of Kephart's counsel to block the proceedings were strenuously opposed by the state's attorneys under the leadership of Attorney General Alter. Their contention has been, and his defense before the trial jury will be that, while his methods of bookkeeping were "curious" they were not "criminal." Stress will be placed on the statement of the auditors that all the state's money was eventually accounted for and there was no evidence of fraud or intent to defraud.

VATICAN ALMS FUND IS ROBBED OF $42,000

Rome, Sept. 21.—Church donations, many of them from America, totaling 1,000,000 lire (about $42,200 at present exchange rates) have been stolen from Vatican funds, an ecclesiastical notability admitted today. All alms offered throughout the world for the granting of special licenses are sent by the bishops to the Sacred Congregation on Rites here. These alms, chiefly for special matrimonial licenses, amount to about 2,000,000 lire a year. For a long time administration of these funds has seemed somewhat irregular and it is now discovered 1,000,000 lire have been stolen. Most of it was from funds sent in by American and Australian bishops. It is mostly charged, it appears, to Mgr. Papi, manager of the congregation, acting under the present superintendent, Cardinal Lega. Pope Pius has ordered an investigation of the thefts.

Rector's Wife Believes Robbery Was Motive In The Slaying Of Husband

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 21.—Mrs. Edward Hall, widow of the slain rector of the Episcopal church here, today made the following statement in which she says she believes the motive of the killing was robbery. "On Thursday evening my husband told me that he was going to the Mills home with a lot of money as he was going to pay a doctor bill for an operation performed on Mrs. Mills some time ago. The money was to be paid to Dr. R. L. McKiernan of New Brunswick. The money was being paid by the church and it was to be paid back into the church treasury in weekly installments out of Mr. Mills salary as a sexton. Mr. Hall had the money in a wallet when he left the house but this money and a gold watch which my husband always carried was not on his person when he was found slain. I have observed my husband's relations with Mrs. Mills for several years and have never seen anything wrong. Our marriage was an ideal one. On Thursday night after my husband left with the money and did not return I became worried and took my brother, Willie Stevens, to look for him. The church was locked and we returned home. I tossed all night and could not sleep.

INJURED MINER RECOVERING

William Mullen, the Wrigley Addition young miner who was severely burned in a powder explosion in the mine of Hess & Craft on Hilldale several days ago, is recovering nicely at the Clearfield hospital.

Mrs. Frank Platt and daughter Miss Violet and son Billy of Wharton are visiting with Mrs. Emma Gaines.

SULTAN MEHMET VI will be rendered more thoroughly powerless than he is at present if Mustapha Kemal Pasha occupies Constantinople. Nevertheless the sovereign attends public thanksgiving services in honor of Kemal's victories.

RAOUF BEY, chief of staff to Mustapha Kemal Pasha, Turkish Nationalist leader, is the real head of the victorious Turkish army that has occupied the whole coast of Asia and now threatens Constantinople.

BRITISH COMMANDER SERVES NOTICE ON TURKS INVASION OF NEUTRAL ZONE WILL BE CONSIDERED OPENING OF WARFARE

Constantinople, Sept. 21.—With Turkish forces rapidly concentrating on the border of the neutral zone, General Harrington, commander of Britain's Near East army, today served notice on Mustapha Kemal that any advance into the Allied territory would be considered an act of war.

This was Britain's reply to the threat of Kamig Bey, Kemal's representative at Constantinople, that the Turks would cross the neutral zone to invade Thrace if that province were not turned over to them immediately.

All night British troops passed into the permanent camps and reinforcements were steadily coming in. The railway stations were flooded with wives of British officers and scores of other persons took their departure from the war zone.

FARM HOUSE SEARCH REVEALS NO CLUES IN DOUBLE MURDER

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 21.—The mystery of the Phillips house on the abandoned farm on which the bodies of Rev. Hall and Mrs. James Mills were found was penetrated today when the County Prosecutor made a minute examination of the interior of the house in an effort to uncover a clue in connection with the mysterious double slaying. While it is believed that shreds of evidence were obtained which will assist the authorities in building up a chain of facts, the past of Rev. Hall and Mrs. Mills was dug up in an effort to find a solution of the problem which has baffled the officers. The latest interesting angle to the case is contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones who declare that on the night of the murder a sleepless babe kept them awake and that during the night they heard the same piercing women's screams heard by the McCabes.

WOMAN CHOPS UP CHURCH ORGAN IN FLASH OF RAGE

Henderson, Ky., Sept. 21.—Because an organ had been installed in the Christian church at Bordley, Ky., against her wishes and those of some other members, Mrs. C. P. Baldwin, wife of a prominent farmer, went to the church alone with an axe, chopped the costly instrument to pieces, took them outside, poured kerosene on the pile and burned it. For months the congregation had wrangled over having an organ. Mrs. Baldwin and her followers, contended it was a sacrilege to play any musical instrument in a church, singing being the only and real manner to give praise to God with music. On a vote the organ won by a small majority, it is said.

Mrs. Baldwin alone refused to attend church last Sunday when it was used for the first time. It had been in a week when destroyed. Mrs. Baldwin is quoted as saying she is a charter member of the church and as long as she remains a member no musical instrument shall be used. No court action has been taken by members who favored the organ.

FORDNEY-M'CUMBER TARIFF BILL LAW; PRESIDENT SIGNS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—The Fordney-McCumber Tariff act was signed this morning by President Harding. The last act in this year old fight was played under auspicious circumstances and the act will be effective at midnight. Two pens were used in signing the Tariff law. One was presented to Senator Fordney and one to Senator McCumber.

BUDDIES FLOCK TO HUNTINGDON WHERE PAL IS ON TRIAL

Col. Graham of Famous Rainbow Div. Among Those Who Believe Dr. Bryson Is Unbalanced.

MOTHER ON STAND

Huntingdon, Pa., Sept. 21.—From various sections of the United States there came today men of the Forty-second and other combat divisions of the World war, traveling hundreds of miles at their own expense to testify in the defense of Dr. Herbert Bryson, former Washington physician and medical officer of the One Hundred and Seventeenth ammunition train in France, charged with slaying Mrs. Helen Irene Haines, wife of a Washington chauffeur.

These men, who "buddied" with Dr. Bryson on the Mexican border and later in France, took the witness stand and told graphically of the strange metamorphosis which the war wrought in the defendant.

One Comes from Boston. Several declared they did not recognize in this broken, gray man their strong-bodied comrade of the World war and ante-bellum days.

Among the chief witnesses, who were called out of order by the defense to permit them to leave for their homes, was Colonel George F. Graham, of Boston, quartermaster of the famous Rainbow division and who served with Dr. Bryson through five battles and engagements.

"Dr. Bryson was known as an efficient and intelligent officer," he testified. "He was a splendid soldier. I haven't seen him since April 17, 1919, until today. He is a total wreck physically since I saw him last. There appears to be a mental change."

William Paddock, deputy governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, was another witness called by the defense to show the terrible change which the war has made in him. He attended George Washington University with Dr. Bryson and has known him for 20 years. He saw the accused physician just before he sailed for Europe, and today at the county jail.

Great Mental Change. "I never saw such a mental change in a man," the witness said. "I talked of our friends and he appeared to brighten up some. Then he would taper off into unintelligible remarks. Today he was slow in his movements and mental reactions. As an instance of this, he kept confusing Brooklyn, N. Y., with Brest, France."

Harry W. Petrik, in addressing the jury opening the defense late this afternoon, gave no indication that the defense will attempt to prove Dr. Bryson did not shoot his companion. The defense is concerned with the task of establishing Dr. Bryson's insanity brought on by his experience under fire.

Mrs. Helen Kirby of New York, mother of the slain woman, was the

It is getting so nowadays that automobiles, motor trucks or alleged motor trucks are dangerous engines of destruction even when left standing along the roadway with the engine at rest, the brakes on and not a person in sight. At least that is the opinion of "Deacon" Williams, erstwhile official mail carrier and whilom drayman on the side, and D. W. Beeman and R. C. Maxwell, householders and property owners who live near the corner of Cemetery Road and East Pine street.

Here is the why. Last evening about 7 o'clock, the "Deacon" drove his truck to the corner of Cemetery Road and East Pine street for the purpose of moving a "fitting." He parked his truck at the side of the road to allow the rest of the world to go by and went into the house to get his load. While he was inside, the truck started to move slowly down the hill toward the house of D. W. Beeman. "Deacon" heard the old thing creak and sensing the difficulty, dashed downstairs and out onto the street in a mad rush to stop it. By the time he got outside the house, the truck had succeeded in running into and demolishing one corner of the porch at the Beeman home and coming off was about to start down over the steep incline on East Pine street.

"Deacon" hopped onto the running board and made a valiant effort to grasp the steering wheel and stop the pesky thing, but was unable to do so and was thrown aside as the machine, which seemed bent upon its own destruction, bumped along. It dashed down the hill at frightful speed and ran head-on into the porch at the handsome little bungalow of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Maxwell, a couple of hundred feet below Cemetery Road. The porch was literally demolished, likewise the truck, by the impact. Mr. Maxwell, who had come in from his run on the New York Central road a short while previous, was in bed at the time, while Mrs. Maxwell was down street.

When awakened by the crash, Bob jumped up, seized his deer gun and rushing to the door demanded to know of the assembling neighbors when war had been declared. "Deacon" disarmed the irate householder with the most profuse apologies and when he convinced him it was not war but purely an accident, Bob removed his war paint and put aside his implements of war.

The wreck of both porches and truck are complete, the damage amounting to several hundred dollars. The "Deacon" who is, the greatest sufferer, is entitled to sympathy in his misfortune as the accident was unavoidable so far as he was concerned.

ATTENDING STATE CONVENTION

County Commissioners Dale, Weiner and Farrell, Clerk L. C. Norris and County Solicitor A. H. Woodward are in attendance at the State Convention of County Commissioners, which is in session at Altoona this week.

SIMENDINGER JURY HEARING DETAILS OF FATAL RIDE

First Witness Tells Of Party Having No Less Than Five Drinks Before Going On Ride.

ALL INTOXICATED

The jury in the Simendinger manslaughter case, now on trial in criminal court, was finally secured at 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon and when the twelfth member had been accepted Judge Bell declared a recess of fifteen minutes.

When Court again resumed District Attorney Arnold opened his case to the jury. The District Attorney outlined the circumstances surrounding the happening in which Felton Ohs met his death on that bleak Thanksgiving Day in 1921 and told the jury the Commonwealth expected to be able to place the responsibility for that accident upon Simendinger.

The taking of testimony then began Henry Van Valkah, civil engineer of Clearfield, being the first witness called. He made a map of the scene of the accident and explained same for the benefit of the jury.

Had Mixed Drinks. The second witness called was A. T. Mills of Houtzdale, one of the men who was in the party at the Simendinger drug store and also on the fatal joy ride. He testified that the party had no less than five drinks in the drug store, three of whiskey and two of a decoction containing lemon extract and alcohol. He said the whole party was under the influence of liquor and his testimony was damaging to the defense. Mills said the accident, he believed, was due to the fact that a car parked along side the road had it necessary for Simendinger to turn out and when he tried to get back into the road the car skidded and shot across to the opposite side and the driver was too late in straightening it up and he crashed into the fence along the highway head-on.

There were four men in the car and the top of the fence striking Ohs in the breast shoved him out through the back of the car, instantly killing him.

The next witness called was McCauley, near whose home the accident occurred. It was his car that was parked along the road. He testified that the car was located at some distance away from the road and it was not necessary for a motorist to turn out to avoid it.

Personnel of Jury

The jury who will decide the fate of Simendinger is as follows:

Chauncey Weaver, laborer, Becrafta twp.
M. J. Whalen, grocer, Osoola.
Edith Johnson, domestic, Cooper twp.
Cyrus J. Lewis, farmer, Lawrence twp.
Steve Rusnak, miner, Mow's twp.
Ellen Pearson, clerk, Chester twp.
Mrs. Gertrude Hopburn, Grampian.
Bruce Mills foreman, Gulch twp.
William Bumgardner, miner, Deatur twp.
Raymond Kendall, farmer, Penn.
R. J. Bourman, laborer, Clearfield.
Albert Hartshorn, miner, Chester Hill.

A night session of court was held last evening, adjourning at 9:45, at which time District Attorney Arnold announced that he had completed the Commonwealth's case.

During the evening William Prince, who was also in the car when the accident occurred, was called. He was the witness indicted for perjury at the previous trial, when his story on the stand did not square with his testimony at the coroner's inquest. The evidence given by Prince corroborated in the main the story told by Mills.

In addition to some filling in this line of testimony, Henry Mazon, of Bigler township, who saw the car pass along the highway shortly before the accident, testified it was traveling at least 35 miles per hour. Bill Bishop, the baseball player, who was at the scene immediately following the accident, testified it was traveling at least 35 miles per hour. (Continued on Page 5).

Fair Next Week Will Be Outstanding Event of Year

The plans for the coming Clearfield County Fair are taking very material shape, and the promoters are looking forward to one of the greatest fairs that has ever been seen on the Clearfield Fair Grounds. Many improvements have been made in the fair grounds proper, and there are some surprises in store for the people who have not seen the grounds since last year. The trees that stood in the rear of the cattle sheds have been removed, the ground graded and drained, and this space will be utilized for parking of automobiles. The poultry exhibition sheds have been doubled in capacity, and one hundred new stalls have been erected for the use of the poultry fraternity, which will avoid the congestion that has hitherto marked the previous fairs.

Much interest has been evidenced by the members of these clubs in preparation of their exhibits for the coming fair. Entries have already been made by individuals and by clubs, and the competition promises to be the keenest that has been seen in the county for many years. The new exhibition facilities for these products of Clearfield county farms is going to arouse a vast amount of interest. Special prizes for the Calf and Pig Clubs have been donated by the Clearfield Commercial Club, and the DuBois Rotary Club.

The work that has been going on quietly, under the direction of the Clearfield County Livestock Auxiliary Association, will be brought to light when the fine herds and individual entries of Guernsey cattle will be shown at this year's fair. This organization has already been responsible for the purchase of one carload of Guernsey cattle, and another is now being gathered together under the direction of County Agent Sterrett.

Application for space to exhibit farm machinery and appliances for the farmer's home are being received every day and it is gratifying to the management that they are going to be able to show the best ideas in farm machinery that have been brought out since last year's fair. These exhibits will not be confined to the operation of the farm entirely, as the new appliances for the farmer's home have been coming in for their share of interest and will be one of the first that has been gathered in this section of the State. Many of these exhibits will be shown in actual operation which will give a concrete idea of the benefits to be derived from their use.

The Clearfield American Legion Band, of forty trained musicians, and the crack band of this section of the State, has been engaged, and has a program prepared for the lovers of music that will meet with approval. A special band-stand has been erected for this organization, and they will render concerts and general musical entertainment every afternoon and evening. Several other bands have been engaged for concerts in the regular band-stand in the grove, for every morning and afternoon. There will be a grand display of fireworks in the evening. These will be in charge of an expert pyrotechnician, who will arrange for the splendid display.

Lieutenant W. H. Emery, Jr., will be there with his aeroplane and will not only give exhibition flights every afternoon, but will carry passengers for flights over the city at the rate of ten dollars each. He will also give exhibitions of wing-walking and make a parachute drop from the etheral every day.

JOHN S. FISHER IS SELECTED TO HEAD ANNUAL SEAL SALE

Philadelphia, September 20.—John S. Fisher, of Indiana, has accepted the chairmanship of the State Committee for the 1922 sale of Christmas Seals.

This announcement was made today at a sectional conference held at the City Club to make plans for the Seal Sale. The conference was under the direction of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society and a dozen counties of south-eastern Pennsylvania were represented.

It was also made known that the State Headquarters for the Seal sale will be in Harrisburg.

Mr. Fisher formerly was a State Senator, State Banking Commissioner and a member of the Constitutional Revision Commission. In accepting the Seal chairmanship, Mr. Fisher said:

"One of the most important tasks we have in Pennsylvania is the control and elimination of tuberculosis. This is true because of the large number of lives taken by this disease in our State each year, the great number of people constantly afflicted with the disease and the tremendous economic loss.

"If those interested in tuberculosis prevention are to do the big work that is to be done they will need increased funds. The National Tuberculosis Association is leading the tuberculosis agencies of the country in an effort to raise $5,000,000 in this year's campaign. For Pennsylvania the target has been set at $350,000.

A GIRL SCOUT BAND

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Girl Scout Troop No. 33 of this city wanted a brass band, so they went to a musical dealer and bought $1,000 worth of instruments on the installment plan, agreeing to pay the full total cost in eighteen months. They were sharp enough to get a professional discount.

Then they called on Albert Cook, a professional band director, and hired him to give them lessons—also on the installment plan.

The girls now have a 22-piece band, which includes cornets, trombones, a French horn, bass horn, clarinets, a piccolo, a snare drum and a bass drum.

They practiced two months and then made bold to appear in public. The audience was actually enthusiastic and enough money was made at this, and other entertainments, to pay for the instruments and send Mr. Cook his fee. Not long ago, the band gave an operetta "The Land of Chance" and played the first number on the program.

Grace Before All Things.

The goodness that is cheap in beauty makes beauty brief in goodness; but grace, being the soul of your complexion, should keep the body of it fair.—Shakespeare.

This is, I believe, a reasonable figure. "Our State has done good work in the fight against tuberculosis; may we do even better. By raising our quota the fight can be made more effective all along the line."

Philadelphia's meeting was the first of five Christmas Seal conferences for Pennsylvania. Other places and dates are:

Scranton, September 25th.
Williamsport, Sept. 27th.
Erie, Sept. 29th.
Altoona, Oct. 4th.

SENATE KILLS THE BONUS; PRESIDENT VETO IS SUSTAINED

Washington, Sept. 21.—The soldiers' bonus bill failed for enactment yesterday, the Senate sustaining President Harding's veto. Previously the House had overridden the veto by a large margin.

The Senate roll-call showed 44 yeas to 28 nays, or 4 less than the two-thirds majority necessary to enact the measure without the approval of the President. The vote in the House was 258 to 54, or 50 more than the required number.

Although it was reported that a new bonus bill might be introduced today, it was certain that the bonus fight would not be resumed but at least until the next session of Congress which will begin on December 4.

The Senate roll call was as follows:

To override the veto.—Republicans: Brandagee, Bursum, Capper, Colt, Cummins, Curtis, Gooding, Hale, Harrod, Jones of Washington, Kellogg, LaFollette, Lenroot, Lodge, McCormick, McLean, McCall, Nelson, Oddie, Rawson, Shortridge, Stanfield, Southerland, Townsend and Watson of Indiana.

Democrats: Ashurst, Broussard, Culbertson, Fletcher, Garry, Hefflin, Hitchcock, McKellar, Ronsell, Reel, McGorray, Robinson, Shepard, Smith, Trammell and Walsh of Massachusetts. Total 17.

To sustain the veto.—Republicans: Ball, Borah, Calder, Cameron, Dillingham, DuPont, Edge, Ernst, Fernald, Hatch, Keyes, Moses, Nelson, New, Newberry, Pepper, Smith, Reed of Pennsylvania, Smoot, Sterling and Wadsworth.

Democrats: Dial, Lack, Myers, Owen, Shields, Underwood and Williams. Total 28.

BANANA SPIDER AND MOUSE ENGAGE IN DEADLY BATTLE

A full grown mouse breathed its last within ten seconds after receiving a bite from the poisonous fangs of a "banana spider," a species of the tarantula, and the spider itself died within a few moments from the effects of a wound which the mouse inflicted in its battle for life. This all came about as the result of an experiment made by A. Battaglia, a Ridgway banana merchant, who, having often heard that the bite of a "banana spider" was extremely poisonous, wished to test the truth of the statement.

Mr. Battaglia secured the spider from a Johnsonburg customer who found it in a bunch of bananas purchased from him. The mouse was procured through an advertisement in a Ridgway paper and the two were put in a container, yesterday afternoon. The mouse immediately made a dash for the spider and bit it on a leg, and so far as Mr. Battaglia was able to ascertain this was the only wound inflicted on the tarantula. A short time afterwards the spider maneuvered into such a position that it was able to bite the mouse.

School Kiddies Admitted Free Wed. Afternoon

The Third Ward school is sure going to be a busy spot on Wednesday afternoon about 1 o'clock. This school is going to be the rendezvous for all the school kiddies of the county. Promptly at 1:30 the kiddies will be formed in line and, headed by the Clearfield American Legion Band, will march to the Fair Grounds via William to Nichol to Park and thence on to the track at the gate nearest the Grounds entrance; past the Grandstand and disband just outside the lower gate in front of the lower stables.

All kiddies are to be admitted free when they come accompanied by their teacher and in a group.

One of the things that makes a lot of confusion is the late arrival of entries for exhibits. It is desired that this year's entries should be made as early as possible. Make your entry at once—it isn't necessary to bring in the exhibit at the time of making the entry, if you make it now, but make your entry so that the clerical work may go forward without delay and thus eliminate the usual rush Tuesday morning at the Fair Grounds. You will greatly aid the Fair Association and will also eliminate a waste of your own valuable time caused by the confusion at the Park.

FAIR OPENS AT 10 A. M. TUESDAY

The Park Association and the County Agricultural Society have both erected new buildings in order to be prepared to display the best products of our Clearfield County farms.

To make this a successful Fair we must have the farmer's co-operation.

This is a year of plenty.

The premiums are liberal.

SHOW THAT YOU ARE INTERESTED by sending to the Fair the best your farm produces in Livestock, Poultry, Grains, Fruits and Vegetables, making one grand collection that all can see what is produced in our County. It will be properly displayed, and classified to be Judged, and Premiums awarded according to merit.

This is the real object of a County Fair and brings about agricultural educational features which will be far reaching in the future.

Send in your Exhibits Monday.

Entries will close Tuesday at 10 A. M.

All Superintendents will be on duty Monday morning.

All entries prior to Monday, Sept. 25th, will be entered at Room No. 1, Keystone Building.

Articles sent in will be well taken care of.

Make Your Entries Early To Avoid Confusion

Many times, in wandering about the exhibits of grains, fruits, vegetables, etc., one hears the remark, "I've got better stuff than that at home." Now the premiums are large enough this year in all the classes to make it worth your while to bring the best that you have on your farm for exhibition. The farmers who exhibited at the Grampian Fair this week have caught the idea and the showings of fruits, grains, vegetables and other things is mighty fine with a lot of good natured competition among the exhibitors. It is this sort of friendly competition that brings out the better exhibits and if you producers will realize this, this year's agricultural exhibit will far surpass anything yet shown.

This competition is open to every farmer in Clearfield County. This means that the parts of the county not so well adapted to the raising of pro-

Two errors crept into our stories in yesterday's FAIR NEWS. The office of the Fair Manager will be shifted from the Keystone Building Monday morning instead of Tuesday morning as stated. Ex-Lieut. Emery will do his stunt flying on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons and will carry passengers every day of the Fair, morning and afternoon.

MANY A LAUGH IN GREASED PIG AFFAIR

One of the greatest laugh-makers—the old fashioned greased pig catching contest—will be held on Wednesday and Thursday afternoon between the first and second races. A good sized porker will be well covered with the slipperiest of grease and turned loose in the oval for all comers to catch—if they can. It will be well worth entering this contest, as the Fair management has secured two eight-week-old piggies for the occasion and the lucky person will have the nucleus for many a cold morning breakfast after securely holding the greased pig for the stipulated length of time—no rules, no holds barred—just catch the piggie.

In yesterday's FAIR NEWS we said something about the horse-racing news. Unfortunately we are unable to do this today as Mr. Dallas Guppy, the Racing Secretary, left unexpectedly for Apollo, where he is getting in touch with some racing men who have some extra speedy horseflesh. It is Mr. Guppy's intention to induce these horse owners to come to Clearfield Fair for the racing.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Smaller than ever, but still the event of the year to thousands of the passing generation who watched the war of the rebellion come and go, the fifty-sixth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will open in Des Moines, Iowa, next Sunday. Only 15,000 veterans of the Grand Army are expected to be able to attend this year's encampment.

Nine auxiliary conventions and sixteen separate reunions are expected to bring a total of 75,000 during the week.

Two thousand colored veterans are expected here to hold their first reunion at this year's gathering. Shiloh, Vicksburg and Gettysburg survivors will come from all parts of the country to march in the parade and attend the campfire ceremonies.

The average age of veterans who will attend the encampment this year is said to be 80 years.

Clearfield borough Council is up against a just complaint from the residents along Front street, which is the complainants' allege, possibly "the most traveled dirt street in the borough." This is true now and will be more so upon completion of the Lakes to the Sea Highway, the increased traffic upon which will undoubtedly force 95 per cent. of local traffic down Front street inasmuch as it is a main thoroughfare thru the town and the shortest and quickest route to the West Side or extreme lower end of town.

The complainants ask to have the street paved and it should be paved, but right here is Council's problem. Where are the funds to come from? If this street or any other street, but the two remaining feeder or main arteries into the town, is to be paved there is just one way it can be done, and that way has already been pointed out by council to delegations of citizens who asked to have Locust street paved a couple of years ago and West Third avenue last year.

When the aforementioned delegations asked to have these streets paved Council told them that the plan for street paving in Clearfield would have to be changed. Heretofore all paving has been done by the Borough alone, while the law of Pennsylvania now allows the Council to assess the cost of such paving or improvement against the abutting property owners. When the paving plan was first adopted it was alright because it was necessary to pave the main streets or arteries in and into the town through a community of interest spirit and because the improvement was a benefit to all. The paving of any but a main artery is a benefit primarily to the abutting property owners alone, and only occasionally or incidentally to the remainder of the townspeople.

That being so the present Council has decided on the above mentioned occasions that all street paving to be done in the future must in all justice to the Borough finances, be paid for by the abutting property owners on each street in accordance with the Pennsylvania statute previously referred to, and according to the plan in force in DuBois, Altoona, Tyrone, Philipsburg and all the other municipalities round about Clearfield and for that matter throughout the entire state.

That is the proposition now confronting Council and the residents of Front street, which, if it should be found possible to pave the same would require Council to pay 50 per cent. of the cost of the improvement for all but one block of the five blocks to be paved, inasmuch as only the property on the east side of the street would be assessable under the law, the west side abutting on the river front, the two public parks and the property of the School District, which could not be assessed with the cost of such public improvement.

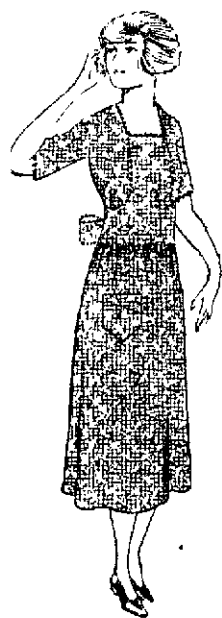

As we said before, the paving on Front street, for the reasons advanced, we believe to be a necessity; let us hope the Highway Department of Council and special committee of property owners on the street may work out a plan for same at the meeting to be held in the Council Chamber, Friday evening, September 29th.

Gifts That Last

There's a lasting satisfaction in giving such gifts as you will find here. The slogan of the national jewelers' association has become one of household use and folks are turning to it more and more. They are giving gifts that last in preference to the little geegaws that are lost or broken quickly and do not carry with them the spirit in which you gave it.

When you give a gift, give a gift that lasts.

Frocks

Never Have They Been
So Attractively "Different"

FROCKS! Really they are highlights in the Ready-to-Wear section. You will notice styles that are far removed from the commonplace, and so graceful you will instantly know they include several that will prove more becoming than any you've ever worn. Each one is an exceptionally good value.

Russian styles are especially attractive in supple Canton Satin, or "blistered" silks. The low-bloused bodice and draped skirt that fastens at the side and effective Russian embroidery are all characteristically Russian.

Braid, in many chic ways, helps make many cloth Frocks the success they are. While the low-bloused styles are well represented, braid smartly trims some in basque styles with semi-circular skirts.

MODES OF THE MOMENT IN

New Fall Apparel

FEATURE VALUES THAT ARE NOTEWORTHY

Now chilly days herald the approach of Winter. Are you prepared with new warm Apparel? The most varied selection of seasonable new Apparel is here at the Store. It emphasizes quality, exceptional value and decided style attraction. Prices are unusually low for garments of such signal worth.

Suits

A Versatile Selection Assures Becomingness

Never before have we had so many attractive Suits in such sound styles as we have this season. They absolutely assure becomingness. Sport and Street models in conservative styles and made up in fine Twill, Herringbone and Tricot materials, accentuate a wide style range and splendid tailoring. The prices are most reasonable.

FUR WRAPS AND COATS

You will find here a very remarkable assemblage of Fur Wraps and Coats, each one a marvel of perfect skins and adept workmanship. Lustrous Seals, Caracul, Mink or Muskrat, many contrasted with other Furs, are modeled in the latest styles, and are the highest type Furs obtainable anywhere.

Graceful Wraps

Have Quality and Distinction

Interpreting the best of Fall Wrap styles yet adhering to a very modest price range considering the high quality of the garments, Wraps here present one of the finest selections we have ever had. Fabrics of definite quality and beauty are linked with charming new colors and luxurious furs.

TOPCOATS With Swagger Lines That Flare

Of dominant style are Topcoats of English blanket cloth, camel's hair or swagger mixtures. Many models are without belts with the new flared back. Raccoon or fox fur collars some smart Coats of high grade camel's hair.

FUR TRIMS Beautiful Wraps Of Pile Fabrics

The low-bloused Russian style with large, graceful sleeves, side closing and fur luxuriously used for collars, cuffs or decorative bandings is a distinct wrap favorite. It is only one of the new stylish Wraps here.

The furs that trim new Wraps are noteworthy. Caracul in black or beige, beautiful lustrous fox pelts, shaggy wolf—and squirrel or mole with new clever trimming methods—these are distinct assets on Wraps.

Clearfield today extends a hearty welcome to Dr. John M. Thomas, President of State College.

More children should be educated to the various trades and less to the "white collar" occupations, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis today told delegates to the American Insurance Union in session at Columbus, Ohio.

"The farmer and the industrial worker make up ninety per cent of our population, while only ten per cent are in professional life," said Secretary Davis. "Yet most of our whole educational system is equipped to turn out boys and girls fitted solely for the so-called 'white collar' occupations. To educate 100 per cent of our children for less than 10 per cent of our jobs is utterly futile and ultimately will lead to social, political and economic chaos."

"Today the 'white collar' occupations are crowded to overflowing; our youth is flocking in unseemly throngs to the cluttered office buildings while we are lacking in the skilled craftsmen and artists necessary to maintain production on farm, in mill and factory, where wages are often far higher than in the crowded 'white collar' occupations."

Secretary Davis said the ultimate outcome of this system continued without reform or amendment would be the creation of a nation where every man and woman would have book learning and none the learning of the hands, which he declares is "so vital to national prosperity and progress."

"We must restore the dignity of labor by teaching the trades in our schools," the Labor Secretary added.

GRADE CROSSING KILLINGS

The whole country would be horrified if 1,000 people should be killed in a railroad accident. There would be investigations and endless discussions and suggestions for greater safety. Nearly 2,000 are killed every year as the result of getting in the way of trains at grade crossings. Not much is done to make such crossings safer.

Moreover, nobody seems to learn any lessons from the frightful casualties. About the same number meet death from the same cause every year; about the same number are injured. The figures read like the reports of battles. In 1917, 1,969 were killed and 4,764 injured; in 1918, 1,852 were killed and 4,683 were injured; in 1919, 1,784 were killed and 4,611 were injured; in 1920, 1,791 were killed and 5,077 were injured; and in 1921, 1,705 were killed and 4,868 were injured.

In very large part these accidents must be the fault of the nature of the railroad crossing. Just now the country is spending millions of dollars to improve its roads. This is giving importance to the office of those charged with laying out and building highways and a better grade of officials is resulting.

In view of these terrible losses from imperfectly constructed railroad crossings, the engineering skill now available ought to turn attention to improving conditions, not only of the improved roads but every road that intersects a railway.

BRUTE BEHIND THE WHEEL

(By BIRD S. PATTERSON)

I read with much interest and strong approval the account in your New York letter of a motorist who stopped his auto to spare the life of a field mouse crossing the road. It brought to my mind an entirely different story told me recently by a friend, who is a prominent Pittsburgh business man. He said he stopped at a hotel in Bedford, Pa., the night before Labor Day. The next morning the night clerk asked him if he had heard a shot, to which he replied in the negative. Then the clerk told this story:

He was sitting on the hotel porch late at night when he heard loud voices. In a moment there shot into the circle of light in front of the hotel an auto containing five young creatures, three male, two female. A dog was lying asleep close to the curb in front of the hotel. He was spied by the male beast at the wheel of the auto and he immediately swerved the machine from the middle of the road so that it passed over the poor dog breaking the animal's back.

The whole party of beasts in human form, male and female, broke into loud laughter and sped on. What their character and condition were can best be judged by their conduct. The clerk picked up the dog, and finding its condition hopeless, kindly put it out of misery with a revolver shot. It is only a pity that the names of the vile creatures guilty of this horrible act cannot be published and held up to the public execration they deserve.

PINCHOT STRONG IN PHILADELPHIA

City Committee Pledges Support to Whole Ticket.

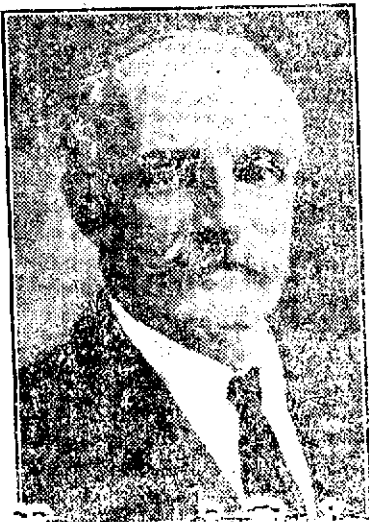

MEETING VERY BARRICADED

Candidates Discussed Situation Before Representative Gathering of U. S. and Women Workers—Pepper and Reed Pay Tribute to Forester.

Philadelphia, Sept. 19. The Republicans of the city of Philadelphia, and that means virtually all the people of this city, are for Gifford Pinchot and the rest of the Republican ticket. This fact was brought out last evening by a few days ago when the Republican City Committee unanimously endorsed the ticket in a meeting that was fairly charged with good feeling and enthusiasm.

As everybody knows a majority of Philadelphians who voted at the primary election cast their ballots for General Alter. Members of the Republican City Committee favored Alter as against Pinchot. They not only favored him but worked hard to make him the nominee.

But all that happened at the nominating primary. When the result was announced and it was shown that the Republicans of Pennsylvania desired

GIFFORD PINCHOT

Gifford Pinchot as their standard bearer for the high office of Governor, Philadelphia Republicans turned in for Pinchot and the entire set of nominees just as earnestly and vigorously as they had previously supported Mr. Alter. In doing this they but followed the action of General Alter and the friends of General Alter, all of whom are for the staunch Republican ticket from United States Senator and Governor down to the candidates for the General Assembly.

The meeting of the Republican City Committee proved a disappointing experience to the Democratic leaders who have been going up and down the State loudly declaring that the Republican workers of Philadelphia were lukewarm this year and that the usual majority would not be forthcoming. It is a good guess that the opposition has now changed its mind regarding the Quaker City, though, of course, Democratic leaders are not to be expected to alter their tactics in endeavoring to have the impression go out that things are not harmonious in G. O. D. circles. The average Democratic boss loves to stick to a first statement even if convinced in subsequent investigation.

Mr. Pinchot was the principal speaker at the meeting held at the Bellevue-Stratford. Every leader of the party of any importance, women as well as men, attended the meeting.

Senator Pepper and Senator Reed preceded the Forester on the speaking program.

Standing Solidly.

Mr. Pinchot's speech, brief and very clear, was a reiteration of his earlier campaign promises. He said that he felt the Republicans of the State, by their vote for him, had endorsed his platform, and that their vote had with him the force of a popular mandate to put his principles into operation if he is elected Governor.

"Everywhere I have been," he said, "I have found Republican standing solidly and enthusiastically by the ticket. Nowhere has any appreciable defection appeared."

"Not only these Republicans who supported my candidacy in the primary, but those who were for my opponent are backing the ticket and getting together for an impressive victory in November. The Republican organization is putting its shoulder to the wheel, and these solid organizations of men and women that were behind my candidacy are giving their best efforts to the campaign."

Forester Loudly Cheered.

Mr. Pinchot declared that "the results of the primary election have been accepted by the whole party," and said he felt certain that Republican voters everywhere looked confidently forward to the time when the Governor, with the help of the Legislature, and all elements of the party, and with the forces of public opinion behind him will begin to put into effect the platform endorsed by the Republican majority at the primary.

The Forester was loudly applauded by the members of the City Committee and the Organization Committee of the Republican party. In a speech of welcome to the Forester, the City Committee declared that the primary election had been a victory for the Republican ticket. It was a victory for the whole ticket, and it was a victory for the whole party. The City Committee pledged its support to the whole ticket, and it pledged its support to the whole party.

With these words the City Committee closed its meeting. The Forester was loudly cheered, and the meeting adjourned. The City Committee will meet again on Monday night, September 25, to discuss the situation and to make plans for the campaign.

It is a very interesting and important meeting, and it is a meeting that should be watched by all who are interested in the future of the State. The City Committee is a very powerful organization, and it is an organization that should be respected by all who are interested in the future of the State.

So that my meaning may not be misunderstood let me say emphatically that I have no intention to build a political machine. My job as Governor will be to make good as Governor, and I want all the help I can properly get to that end.

City Chairman Thomas P. Watson called the meeting to order and when it was over Mayor Thomas C. Clifton, who is also a member of the State Committee, addressed the resolution which lines up the Philadelphia organization as a back of the Forester.

Pinchot's speech was a very clear and concise statement of his platform and his promises. He was very confident and very sure of himself, and he was very clear in his statement of his platform and his promises.

SCANDALMONGERS WORKING OVERTIME

Thus far the authorities have no definite clue as to the driver of the car which killed little Mary Haverstock on the State road near the Children's Home a couple of weeks ago. Despite this fact scandalmongers, mental defectives and other undesirable are continually starting rumors concerning the identity or supposed identity of the perpetrators of this outrage.

A rumor gained wide circulation yesterday that a prominent local young man had confessed to being the driver of the car. The story grew out of some fellow's diseased imagination as there is absolutely nothing to it.

Such stories should not be given ear. When, or if, the perpetrator of the crime is located the facts will be made known by the authorities and the newspapers, at once, and until that time pass up the lies being noised about.

SIMENDINGER JURY

ing the accident, said he contained the tracks where the car left the road and it was a straight line without having skidded at all.

The defense opened this morning by calling a number of the leading citizens of Hazardside, who testified to Simendinger's condition the afternoon of the fatal drive, and a few minutes before the accident. Squire John Sedgwick, Dr. Morris, Dr. W. C. Pidgeon, transacted business with Simendinger between 3 and 4 p. m. of that day and all said he showed no signs of intoxication.

Ralph Harris and Elsie Dale, of Hazardside, who saw Simendinger immediately following the accident, said he appeared to be sober and normal.

Simendinger was called to the stand in his own defense at 10 o'clock and detailed the story of the afternoon's occurrence. He said he had two drinks in the drug store, one of whiskey and the other lemon extract and alcohol. He said he was normal and all right on the trip and never drove more than 25 miles per hour at any stage of the journey toward Hazardside. He said when he attempted to take the curve near the junction of the concrete and brick road, on account of the slippery condition of the road he traveled on the left hand side of the curve, the left wheels of his car slipped over the curb and in attempting to get back onto the road he pulled his car to the right, causing it to skid and before he could straighten it up he crashed into the fence. He said he didn't know if he had been hurt and when he saw the flames shooting up through the hood of his car he raised the hood with the aid of a stick and seeing his rain coat on the ground, assisted by another man, he then walked down to Dr. Miller's office and had his hand, injured in the wreck, dressed, and then went home in the car of Elsie Dale, who testified he was sober.

Simendinger was severely grilled by Mr. Arnold on cross examination, and stated that he was very well.

When the defense at Hazardside, called a number of the witnesses to the car to the stand, and Simendinger did not appear to be intoxicated.

tioned the party against going out on the drive that afternoon, that some of them would be killed, was called to the stand and said he had not seen any of them that day and never made such statement. District Attorney Arnold went after the witness and made him admit that he had had drinks at the Simendinger drug store, but not on this Thanksgiving Day.

Simendinger was recalled for a question or two by the district attorney and this ended the testimony, a short recess being taken at 11 o'clock.

SPECIAL-SIX SEDAN

Studebaker $2050

THE Studebaker Special-Six Sedan will win your admiration at first glance. After you have examined it you will be even more delighted with it. When you have ridden in it you won't be satisfied with anything else.

The market does not offer a more beautiful enclosed body. Certainly none is built of better materials and finer workmanship. It is a striking example of the handicraft of Studebaker artisans.

Everything is in exquisite taste. Its distinctive body lines are enhanced by massive headlights, the graceful cowl lamps and the courtesy light just above the running board on the driver's side, which illuminates the roadway in passing other cars at night.

Inside, the inviting depth of the cushions, the subdued harmony of upholstery, the soft carpeting and the completeness of appointments offer an irresistible appeal.

It is mounted on the same Special-Six chassis which has won the enthusiasm of thousands of owners for its dependable performance, power, comfort and economy in fuel and tires.

The Studebaker Special-Six Sedan offers the utmost closed car refinement—and at moderate cost. At the new low price of $2050 it represents the greatest closed car value that Studebaker ever offered.

The name Studebaker is your assurance of satisfaction.

Four doors that swing wide open; simple, automatic window lifts raise or lower plate glass windows; opalescent corner lights; massive headlights; artistic coach lamps; courtesy light; cowl ventilator; windshield wiper and rain vicer; jeweled eight-day clock; exhaust heater; thief-proof transmission lock.

last witness and the most spectacular one for the prosecution. On the stand today, she declared she knew her daughter and Dr. Bryson were not married when she visited them at their "love nest" in Cassville several months prior to the tragedy.

Girl's Mother on Stand.

"How did you know they were not married?" she was asked.

"They told me so," she replied.

Under cross-examination she was asked why she had given evidence under oath at the coroner's inquest to the effect that she believed Dr. Bryson and her daughter were married.

"I was grief-stricken," she declared. "I wanted to keep them from sullying my little girl's name."

"Did you not go to Washington and help make arrangements for your daughter to desert her husband and elope with Dr. Bryson?" asked counsel for the defense.

"I did not," the victim's mother declared.

She admitted she met Dr. Bryson in Washington before her daughter and he left. Checks she had indorsed were produced and she admitted the indorsements were correct. Six letters written by her were also identified by her.

Tired of "Simple Life."

Probably the most important fact developed by the prosecution was that Mrs. Helen Irene Haines, termed by her chauffeur husband a "butterfly woman," tired of the simple life of the village to which they had fled. She longed for the bright lights of Broadway, where she had once been a flower, and urged Dr. Bryson to forsake his practice and take her away. He refused and quarrels ensued. There were several clashes. On the day of the tragedy they fought because Mrs. Haines threatened to leave.

This fact was brought out in the testimony of James Corbin and was part of the ante-mortem statement which Mrs. Haines made in his presence just before she died at a hospital here.

WILL STUDY FOR MINISTRY

On Tuesday last Arnold Lansberry one of our faithful young men let for Gettysburg, where he will enter college with the ministry in view. We are proud of Arnold and glad to know that one of our young men feels called of God to this noble profession. To our mind there is no better or nobler calling than that of the Gospel ministry. We congratulate Arnold on this step he is about to take and we want to assure him that we shall always be interested in him and his work. We will miss him in our work here. His place in the choir will be hard to fill. He was always faithful to his church and school, and ready to serve when called upon. May every success possible be yours, is the sincere wish of your pastor.—The Pastor's Helper of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church.

Mr. Lansberry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lansberry, of Merrill street, and a fine young man. He is a graduate of Clearfield High School and feeling the call to labor in the Lord's vineyard, he decided to dedicate himself to the ministry and has entered Gettysburg Seminary to train himself for that important profession. He is made of the right stuff and that he will succeed in his undertaking goes without saying.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Ed McKinley, of Detroit, Mich., are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Blake, Mrs. McKinley's parents.

Messrs Cecil Will and Mervill Weaver left yesterday for Philadelphia, and will enter University of Pennsylvania as students. Mr. Robert Wright left on Monday for that institution, and on Sunday Mr. George Wrigley will travel in that direction and enter as a student in that college.

Irvin Schultz, who at present is residing at Karthaus, visited with his brother-in-law Harry Weisgarber, South Side, on Tuesday and a part of Wednesday.

The members of Joshua Earl Sipes Post, American Legion, will adhere to the suggestion made in the Progress letter some time ago relative to the purchase of a suitable flag to adorn the high staff on the campus of the High School, and will proceed at once to procure one. If a subscription paper was to be circulated among the citizens there is no doubt who would but what a sum of money sufficient for the purchase of a large flag could be secured.

Miss Gretchen Leib and Miss Jane Teats will leave the latter part of the week for Grove City college to again resume their course of study for another year.

Mrs. Harry Gates has gone to her old home in Pottersdale where she expects to spend a full week visiting her parents and other kin folks. She was accompanied by her children.

Printer Fred Robinson left yesterday for Pittsburgh where he will spend several days transacting business relative to his line of trade.

Master Bobbie Robinson entertained some half dozen of his young friends Wednesday evening. Ample refreshments were served all around which were heartily enjoyed by the hungry little shavers.

Yesterday was Doctor Erhard's birthday. We promised him faithfully not to divulge the exact number of years that he has enjoyed the fine scenery of Knox township and also in this vicinity, but will proclaim that he has a number of years ahead of him yet before he reaches the age of some of the Civil War veterans. We dare not say too much on this subject as he is our Chief Burgess and might order the Chief of Police to punch us for "speeding."

"Our Schools" were a little disappointed in the results and the management of the football game last Saturday. A certified list of high school players did not come with the Bellwood boys and Prof. Norris secured one from Mr. William Sitman, Jr., on the field. This was the best that could be done under the slip in the management, but it developed that all the Bellwood boys were not high school students regardless of what Mr. Sitman said over his signature. Here was a breach of faith and Curwensville can hardly be blamed for it. We are sports enough to take real sports at their word, but in this case we were deceived. Our boys played a splendid game against the above odds in experience and age and have every reason to feel proud of their good showing. Coach Black should feel complimented on his splendid work. The score stood 8 to 25 in favor of the Bellwood team.

On Saturday of this week on the Curwensville field our boys will play the Tyrone High School Team. Tyrone treated us so fairly and clean last year that we have no doubt about them this year. They are a nice clean set of boys backed up by the faculty in Tyrone. This promises to be a splendid game. It will be all high school boys on either side. The receipts at the gates last Saturday were $60.00. $50.00 of this was paid to the Bellwood team. The sale of the season tickets amounted to $59.00 making a total of $119.00. The high school football team desires to thank the Curwensville people for this loyal support. It helps them to play ball. On next Saturday, September 23rd may they not expect you at the game with your cheer and interest? On the following Saturday our boys will go to Williamsport to play.

On Monday evening of this week The Curwensville Teachers' Association entertained the School Directors and their wives and Principal Grant Norris and his family at dinner. Irvin Park at six o'clock in the evening. It was gratifying to note that all the teachers and directors were present, together with Superintendent W. P. Trostle and his wife. The menu consisted of a most sumptuous repast of spring chicken, various kinds of sandwiches, pickles, olives, potato salad, cantaloupes, apples, pears, cake, etc., and coffee "Like your mother used to make." One teacher remarked that if she got sick she would send for Dr. King. He immediately told her not to do it as Dr. King would be sick too. Viewed from the bridge it looked like a real geyser en-entertainment and the teachers and directors gathered around the big fire reminded one of primeval days when the nymphs danced in the forest and the witches stewed their gruel. After the festivities on the park grounds Miss Helen Norris invited the entire party to her home where the evening was spent in songs and ghost stories of olden days. Supt. Trostle and his wife took first honors in story telling and Prof. Hege, of the Pike township schools, was a near second. This banquet was given by the Teachers' Association in return for a reception and luncheon given by Mrs. Grant Norris to the teachers and Directors and their wives last Friday night. Supt. Trostle said that these social affairs are of greater use to teaching than so many professional meetings. It gets the teachers acquainted, brings about, as he said, "the elbow touch" and furnishes life in greater "abundance."

A number of parents have asked Prof. Norris to try to do something to alleviate the crowded conditions in the seventh and eighth grades. It seems that everything is being done that can be done. When one tax payer was told that there were 68 pupils in the eighth grade he said he would like to see their names. He did not doubt the word of Mr. Norris but merely wanted to see the names. As he said "Seeing is believing." We have secured the names of the eighth grade children and will publish them next week we shall ask for the names of the seventh grade children. This may be a means of getting his interest in providing more room. Some have thought that a building proposition would increase the taxes too much at this time. Here is where some of us tax payers do not take the right view. If more room is not provided we stand in danger of losing our appropriation from the state for not providing adequate room and this would very much increase our taxes above what they would be if we were to issue bonds and build. In other words our cheapest way out of the present congested conditions is to build. It is not necessary that a building proposition should increase the taxes very materially, but if we do not build the taxes will have to be much higher next year than if we did build. Then our children are entitled to school room. "They are better than sheep." This office will entertain a discussion on this subject. The school board wants the citizens to realize what is needed and then help to meet the situation.

Following are the eighth grade children in one room:

Minnie Ardary, James Ammerman, Mary Aughenbaugh, Harry Bloom, Dorsey Bloom, Irma Bloom, Chester Bloom, Genevieve Buzzard, Elizabeth Biresel, Margaret Bruneth, Elizabeth Curtin, Esther Cochran, Catherine Cook, Albert Conley, Christine Collins, Elizabeth Draucher, Russell Dickey, Matilda DuBek, LoDema Edmiston, Elmo Erhard, Park Erhard, Clara Farwell, Constance Cavor, Rose Gallagher, Erma Giar, Althea Hunter, Mayme Haines, Hazel Had-den, Merl Hockman, Dorothea Hed-don, Thornton Harmie, Nora Johnson, John Konec, Henry Kirk, Raymond Knepp, Roxie Knepp, Florence Kep-bart, Robert Kohnart, Esther Larc-Elma Luzier, Verna Lippert, John

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Read This Letter from Mrs. W. S. Hughes

Greenville, Del.—"I was under the impression that my eldest daughter had some internal trouble as ever since the first time her sickness appeared she had to go to bed and even had to quit school once for a week. I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound myself so I gave it to her and she has received great benefit from it. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish, as I cannot say too much about what your medicine has done for me and for my daughter."—Mrs. Wm. S. Hughes, Greenville, Delaware.

Mothers and oftentimes grandmothers have taken and have learned the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So they recommend the medicine to others.

The best test of any medicine is what it has done for others. For nearly fifty years we have published letters from mothers, daughters, and women, young and old, recommending the Vegetable Compound. They know what it did for them and are glad to tell others. In your own neighborhood are women who know of its great value.

KEPHART WILL FACE GRAND JURY AT THE CAPITAL SATURDAY

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 21.—The most important legal battle in Pennsylvania since the capital graft trial was under way today with the criminal prosecution of ex-State Treasurer Harmon W. Kephart who is charged with failure to properly keep the accounts of his department while in office. In spite of adroit legal skirmishing Mr. Kephart must face the Grand Jury on Saturday, Sept. 23rd, at which time that body is expected to indicate the former state official. Efforts of Kephart's counsel to block the proceedings were strenuously opposed by the state's attorneys under the leadership of Attorney General Alter. Their contention has been, and his defense before the trial jury will be that, while his methods of bookkeeping were "curious" they were not "criminal." Stress will be placed on the statement of the auditors that all the state's money was eventually accounted for and there was no evidence of fraud or intent to defraud.

VATICAN ALMS FUND IS ROBBED OF $42,000

Rome, Sept. 21.—Church donations, many of them from America, totaling 1,000,000 lire (about $42,200 at present exchange rates) have been stolen from Vatican funds, an ecclesiastical notability admitted today. All alms offered throughout the world for the granting of special licenses are sent by the bishops to the Sacred Congregation on Rites here. These alms, chiefly for special matrimonial licenses, amount to about 2,000,000 lire a year. For a long time administration of these funds has seemed somewhat irregular and it is now discovered 1,000,000 lire have been stolen. Most of it was from funds sent in by American and Australian bishops. It is mostly charged, it appears, to Mgr. Papi, manager of the congregation, acting under the present superintendent, Cardinal Lega. Pope Pius has ordered an investigation of the thefts.

Rector's Wife Believes Robbery Was Motive In The Slaying Of Husband

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 21.—Mrs. Edward Hall, widow of the slain rector of the Episcopal church here, today made the following statement in which she says she believes the motive of the killing was robbery. "On Thursday evening my husband told me that he was going to the Mills home with a lot of money as he was going to pay a doctor bill for an operation performed on Mrs. Mills some time ago. The money was to be paid to Dr. R. L. McKiernan of New Brunswick. The money was being paid by the church and it was to be paid back into the church treasury in weekly installments out of Mr. Mills salary as a sexton. Mr. Hall had the money in a wallet when he left the house but this money and a gold watch which my husband always carried was not on his person when he was found slain. I have observed my husband's relations with Mrs. Mills for several years and have never seen anything wrong. Our marriage was an ideal one. On Thursday night after my husband left with the money and did not return I became worried and took my brother, Willie Stevens, to look for him. The church was locked and we returned home. I tossed all night and could not sleep.

BRITISH COMMANDER SERVES NOTICE ON TURKS INVASION OF NEUTRAL ZONE WILL BE CONSIDERED OPENING OF WARFARE

Constantinople, Sept. 21.—With Turkish forces rapidly concentrating on the border of the neutral zone, General Harrington, commander of Britain's Near East army, today served notice on Mustapha Kemal that any advance into the Allied territory would be considered an act of war.

This was Britain's reply to the threat of Kamig Bey, Kemal's representative at Constantinople, that the Turks would cross the neutral zone to invade Thrace if that province were not turned over to them immediately.

All night British troops passed into the permanent camps and reinforcements were steadily coming in. The railway stations were flooded with wives of British officers and scores of other persons took their departure from the war zone.

FARM HOUSE SEARCH REVEALS NO CLUES IN DOUBLE MURDER

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 21.—The mystery of the Phillips house on the abandoned farm on which the bodies of Rev. Hall and Mrs. James Mills were found was penetrated today when the County Prosecutor made a minute examination of the interior of the house in an effort to uncover a clue in connection with the mysterious double slaying. While it is believed that shreds of evidence were obtained which will assist the authorities in building up a chain of facts, the past of Rev. Hall and Mrs. Mills was dug up in an effort to find a solution of the problem which has baffled the officers. The latest interesting angle to the case is contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones who declare that on the night of the murder a sleepless babe kept them awake and that during the night they heard the same piercing women's screams heard by the McCabes.

WOMAN CHOPS UP CHURCH ORGAN IN FLASH OF RAGE

Henderson, Ky., Sept. 21.—Because an organ had been installed in the Christian church at Bordley, Ky., against her wishes and those of some other members, Mrs. C. P. Baldwin, wife of a prominent farmer, went to the church alone with an axe, chopped the costly instrument to pieces, took them outside, poured kerosene on the pile and burned it. For months the congregation had wrangled over having an organ. Mrs. Baldwin and her followers, contended it was a sacrilege to play any musical instrument in a church, singing being the only and real manner to give praise to God with music. On a vote the organ won by a small majority, it is said.

Mrs. Baldwin alone refused to attend church last Sunday when it was used for the first time. It had been in a week when destroyed. Mrs. Baldwin is quoted as saying she is a charter member of the church and as long as she remains a member no musical instrument shall be used. No court action has been taken by members who favored the organ.

One was presented to Senator Fordney and one to Senator McCumber.

BUDDIES FLOCK TO HUNTINGDON WHERE PAL IS ON TRIAL

Col. Graham of Famous Rainbow Div. Among Those Who Believe Dr. Bryson Is Unbalanced.

MOTHER ON STAND

Huntingdon, Pa., Sept. 21.—From various sections of the United States there came today men of the Forty-second and other combat divisions of the World war, traveling hundreds of miles at their own expense to testify in the defense of Dr. Herbert Bryson, former Washington physician and medical officer of the One Hundred and Seventeenth ammunition train in France, charged with slaying Mrs. Helen Irene Haines, wife of a Washington chauffeur.

These men, who "buddied" with Dr. Bryson on the Mexican border and later in France, took the witness stand and told graphically of the strange metamorphosis which the war wrought in the defendant.

One Comes from Boston. Several declared they did not recognize in this broken, gray man their strong-bodied comrade of the World war and ante-bellum days.

Among the chief witnesses, who were called out of order by the defense to permit them to leave for their homes, was Colonel George F. Graham, of Boston, quartermaster of the famous Rainbow division and who served with Dr. Bryson through five battles and engagements.

"Dr. Bryson was known as an efficient and intelligent officer," he testified. "He was a splendid soldier. I haven't seen him since April 17, 1919, until today. He is a total wreck physically since I saw him last. There appears to be a mental change."

William Paddock, deputy governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, was another witness called by the defense to show the terrible change which the war has made in him. He attended George Washington University with Dr. Bryson and has known him for 20 years. He saw the accused physician just before he sailed for Europe, and today at the county jail.

Great Mental Change. "I never saw such a mental change in a man," the witness said. "I talked of our friends and he appeared to brighten up some. Then he would taper off into unintelligible remarks. Today he was slow in his movements and mental reactions. As an instance of this, he kept confusing Brooklyn, N. Y., with Brest, France."

Harry W. Petrik, in addressing the jury opening the defense late this afternoon, gave no indication that the defense will attempt to prove Dr. Bryson did not shoot his companion. The defense is concerned with the task of establishing Dr. Bryson's insanity brought on by his experience under fire.

Mrs. Helen Kirby of New York, mother of the slain woman, was the

U. S. MAIL TRUCK DASHES DOWN PINE STREET HILL, PLAYING SAMPSON WITH FRONT PORCH POSTS AND BANISTERS

It is getting so nowadays that automobiles, motor trucks or alleged motor trucks are dangerous engines of destruction even when left standing along the roadway with the engine at rest, the brakes on and not a person in sight. At least that is the opinion of "Deacon" Williams, erstwhile official mail carrier and whilom drayman on the side, and D. W. Beeman and R. C. Maxwell, householders and property owners who live near the corner of Cemetery Road and East Pine street.

Here is the why. Last evening about 7 o'clock, the "Deacon" drove his truck to the corner of Cemetery Road and East Pine street for the purpose of moving a "fitting." He parked his truck at the side of the road to allow the rest of the world to go by and went into the house to get his load. While he was inside, the truck started to move slowly down the hill toward the house of D. W. Beeman. "Deacon" heard the old thing creak and sensing the difficulty, dashed downstairs and out onto the street in a mad rush to stop it. By the time he got outside the house, the truck had succeeded in running into and demolishing one corner of the porch at the Beeman home and coming off was about to start down over the steep incline on East Pine street.

"Deacon" hopped onto the running board and made a valiant effort to grasp the steering wheel and stop the pesky thing, but was unable to do so and was thrown aside as the machine, which seemed bent upon its own destruction, bumped along. It dashed down the hill at frightful speed and ran head-on into the porch at the handsome little bungalow of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Maxwell, a couple of hundred feet below Cemetery Road. The porch was literally demolished, likewise the truck, by the impact. Mr. Maxwell, who had come in from his run on the New York Central road a short while previous, was in bed at the time, while Mrs. Maxwell was down street.

When awakened by the crash, Bob jumped up, seized his deer gun and rushing to the door demanded to know of the assembling neighbors when war had been declared. "Deacon" disarmed the irate householder with the most profuse apologies and when he convinced him it was not war but purely an accident, Bob removed his war paint and put aside his implements of war.

The wreck of both porches and truck are complete, the damage amounting to several hundred dollars. The "Deacon" who is, the greatest sufferer, is entitled to sympathy in his misfortune as the accident was unavoidable so far as he was concerned.

ATTENDING STATE CONVENTION

County Commissioners Dale, Weiner and Farrell, Clerk L. C. Norris and County Solicitor A. H. Woodward are in attendance at the State Convention of County Commissioners, which is in session at Altoona this week.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 20.—Somebody offered Rev. John Rodman, colored, $1.25 which could be put toward the church treasury, they suggested, if he would carry a suitcase for them. Police stopped Rev. John and now he is being held in $500 bail on a charge of bootlegging. The grip was filled with choice wet goods.

ANYBODY WANT TO ADOPT TWO BEARS WITH BAD MANNERS?

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 21. (United Press.)—Anyone want two year-old bears?

Last year the Game Commission presented State College with two cubs—poly-poly little beggars blessed with the dispositions and pleasing antics of a couple of young puppies—but now that the animals have gained a year in stature the college is desperately anxious to give away its pets.

The Commission gave the bears in the hope of encouraging wild life study in the institution. But college authorities meeting unanticipated difficulties in caring for the budding zoo, have written begging the Game Commission "to take back its bears."

Part of the letter written by the State College caretaker of the bears, to the Commission follows: "What can we do with these bears? They have grown too large and require a strong cage. There is no money in sight to build this with. There is considerable objection to the smell of the bear cage. It cannot be cleaned thoroughly on account of the female, who objects. She is some wild. But the chief objection at this time are the manners of the male bear. In a co-educational institution, he has no place."

HE WILL SEND FOR COL. MAX KUHN THE NEXT DOG HE KILLS

Mt. Carel, Pa., Sept. 21. (United Press.)—Tying a stick of dynamite around a dog's neck and then lighting a fuse was believed by a resident here to be a humane way of ending the animal's life.

Failure to tie the dog, however, cost the man a kitchen stove and considerable other property damage when the animal romped home before the dynamite exploded.

The canine had been ill, was taken to a hillside near the owner's home and prepared for death. When the fuse began to sizzle the animal made a dash for home and crawled under the kitchen stove.

The dynamite stick exploded, killing the animal and wrecking the kitchen. Fortunately no one was in the room at the time. Neighbors were given quite a scare.

SIMENDINGER JURY HEARING DETAILS OF FATAL RIDE

First Witness Tells Of Party Having No Less Than Five Drinks Before Going On Ride.

ALL INTOXICATED

The jury in the Simendinger manslaughter case, now on trial in criminal court, was finally secured at 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon and when the twelfth member had been accepted Judge Bell declared a recess of fifteen minutes.

When Court again resumed District Attorney Arnold opened his case to the jury. The District Attorney outlined the circumstances surrounding the happening in which Felton Ohs met his death on that bleak Thanksgiving Day in 1921 and told the jury the Commonwealth expected to be able to place the responsibility for that accident upon Simendinger.

The taking of testimony then began Henry Van Valkah, civil engineer of Clearfield, being the first witness called. He made a map of the scene of the accident and explained same for the benefit of the jury.

Had Mixed Drinks. The second witness called was A. T. Mills of Houtzdale, one of the men who was in the party at the Simendinger drug store and also on the fatal joy ride. He testified that the party had no less than five drinks in the drug store, three of whiskey and two of a decoction containing him on extract and alcohol. He said the whole party was under the influence of liquor and his testimony was damaging to the defense. Mills said the accident, he believed, was due to the fact that a car parked along side the road had made it necessary for Simendinger to turn out and when he tried to get back into the road the car skidded and shot across to the opposite side and the driver was too late in straightening it up and he crashed into the fence along the highway head-on.

There were four men in the car and the top of the fence striking Ohs in the breast shoved him out through the back of the car, instantly killing him. The next witness called was McCauley, near whose home the accident occurred. It was his car that was parked along the road. He testified that the car was located at some distance away from the road and it was not necessary for a motorist to turn out to avoid it. Personnel of Jury. The jury who will decide the fate of Simendinger is as follows: Chauncey Weaver, laborer, Beccaria twp. M. J. Whalen, grocer, Osoola, Edith Johnson, domestic, Cooper twp. Cyrus J. Lewis, farmer, Lawrence twp. Steve Rusnak, miner, Mow's twp. Ellen Pearson, clerk, Chester twp. Mrs. Gertrude Hapburn, Grampaw, Bruce Mills foreman, Gulch twp. William Bumgardner, miner, Deatur twp. Raymond Kendall, farmer, Penn. R. J. Bourman, laborer, Clearfield. Albert Hartshorn, miner, Chester Hill.

A night session of court was held last evening, adjourning at 9:45, at which time District Attorney Arnold announced that he had completed the Commonwealth's case.

During the evening William Prince, who was also in the car when the accident occurred, was called. He was the witness indicted for perjury at the previous trial, when his story on the stand did not square with his testimony at the coroner's inquest. The evidence given by Prince corroborated in the main the story told by Mills.

In addition to some filling in on this line of testimony, Henry MacJannet, of Bigler township, who saw the car pass along the highway shortly before the accident, testified it was traveling at least 35 miles per hour. Bill Bishop, the baseball player, who was at the scene immediately following the accident, testified that the car was traveling at a speed of 35 miles per hour.

Fair Next Week Will Be Outstanding Event of Year

The plans for the coming Clearfield County Fair are taking very material shape, and the promoters are looking forward to one of the greatest fairs that has ever been seen on the Clearfield Fair Grounds. Many improvements have been made in the fair grounds proper, and there are some surprises in store for the people who have not seen the grounds since last year. The trees that stood in the rear of the cattle sheds have been removed, the ground graded and drained, and this space will be utilized for parking of automobiles. The poultry exhibition sheds have been doubled in capacity, and one hundred new stalls have been erected for the use of the poultry fraternity, which will avoid the congestion that has hitherto marked the previous fairs.

The formation of Boys' and Girls' Calf, Swine and Poultry Clubs throughout the county, by County Agent Stettin, will add zest to the exhibits in this line for the coming fair.

Much interest has been evidenced by the members of these clubs in preparation of their exhibits for the coming fair. Entries have already been made by individuals and by clubs, and the competition promises to be the keenest that has been seen in the county for many years. The new exhibition facilities for these products of Clearfield county farms is going to arouse a vast amount of interest. Special prizes for the Calf and Pig Clubs have been donated by the Clearfield Commercial Club, and the DuBois Rotary Club.

The work that has been going on quietly, under the direction of the Clearfield County Livestock Auxiliary Association, will be brought to light when the fine herds and individual entries of Guernsey cattle will be shown at this year's fair. This organization has already been responsible for the purchase of one carload of Guernsey cattle, and another is now being gathered together under the direction of County Agent Sterrett.

Application for space to exhibit farm machinery and appliances for the farmer's home are being received every day and it is gratifying to the management that they are going to be able to show the best ideas in farm machinery that have been brought out since last year's fair. These exhibits will not be confined to the operation of the farm entirely, as the new appliances for the farmer's home have been coming in for their share of interest and will be one of the first that has been gathered in this section of the State. Many of these exhibits will be shown in actual operation which will give a concrete idea of the benefits to be derived from their use.

The Clearfield American Legion Band, of forty trained musicians, and the crack band of this section of the State, has been engaged, and has a program prepared for the lovers of music that will meet with approval. A special band-stand has been erected for this organization, and they will render concerts and general musical entertainment every afternoon and evening. Several other bands have been engaged for concerts in the regular band-stand in the grove, for every morning and afternoon. There will be a grand display of fireworks in the evening. These will be in charge of an expert pyrotechnician, who will arrange for the splendid display.

Lieutenant W. H. Emery, Jr., will be there with his aeroplane and will not only give exhibition flights every afternoon, but will carry passengers for flights over the city at the rate of ten dollars each. He will also give exhibitions of wing-walking and make a parachute drop from the etheral every day.

The usual "midway" will be in evidence and will carry some very good attractions, such as a Ferris wheel, merry-go-round and aeroplane swings, dog and pony show, trip around the world, and an athletic show. The usual "hot dog" and "get-em-while-they're-hot" stands will be there plenty so that the in-nerman, or woman, may be appeased. The Clearfield Fair Association is a member of the Coal, Oil & Iron circuit which assures fast and clean horse racing. The races are conducted under the Union Trotting Association rules, which prevents anything but fast, fair and clean harness racing. Horses will be there from every section of the Eastern circuits and the purses of four hundred dollars will attract unusually fast entries. Mr. D. D. Guppy, the race secretary, realizes that good races are a big attraction, and he is going after the best horses that are available.

JOHN S. FISHER IS SELECTED TO HEAD ANNUAL SEAL SALE

Philadelphia, September 20.—John S. Fisher, of Indiana, has accepted the chairmanship of the State Committee for the 1922 sale of Christmas Seals.

This announcement was made today at a sectional conference held at the City Club to make plans for the Seal Sale. The conference was under the direction of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society and a dozen counties of south-eastern Pennsylvania were represented.

It was also made known that the State Headquarters for the Seal sale will be in Harrisburg.

Mr. Fisher formerly was a State Senator, State Banking Commissioner and a member of the Constitutional Revision Commission. In accepting the Seal chairmanship, Mr. Fisher said:

"One of the most important tasks we have in Pennsylvania is the control and elimination of tuberculosis. This is true because of the large number of lives taken by this disease in our State each year, the great number of people constantly afflicted with the disease and the tremendous economic loss.

"If those interested in tuberculosis prevention are to do the big work that is to be done they will need increased funds. The National Tuberculosis Association is leading the tuberculosis agencies of the country in an effort to raise $5,000,000 in this year's campaign. For Pennsylvania the target has been set at $350,000.

A GIRL SCOUT BAND

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Girl Scout Troop No. 33 of this city wanted a brass band, so they went to a musical dealer and bought $1,000 worth of instruments on the installment plan, agreeing to pay the full total cost in eighteen months. They were sharp enough to get a professional discount.

Then they called on Albert Cook, a professional band director, and hired him to give them lessons—also on the installment plan.

The girls now have a 22-piece band, which includes cornets, trombones, a French horn, bass horn, clarinets, a piccolo, a snare drum and a bass drum.

They practiced two months and then made bold to appear in public. The audience was actually enthusiastic and enough money was made at this, and other entertainments, to pay for the instruments and send Mr. Cook his fee. Not long ago, the band gave an operetta "The Land of Chance" and played the first number on the program.

Grace Before All Things.

The goodness that is cheap in beauty makes beauty brief in goodness; but grace, being the soul of your complexion, should keep the body of it fair.—Shakespeare.

This is, I believe, a reasonable figure. "Our State has done good work in the fight against tuberculosis; may we do even better. By raising our quota the fight can be made more effective all along the line."

Philadelphia's meeting was the first of five Christmas Seal conferences for Pennsylvania. Other places and dates are:

Scranton, September 25th.
Williamsport, Sept. 27th.
Erie, Sept. 29th.
Altoona, Oct. 4th.

SENATE KILLS THE BONUS; PRESIDENT VETO IS SUSTAINED

Washington, Sept. 21.—The soldiers' bonus bill failed for enactment yesterday, the Senate sustaining President Harding's veto. Previously the House had overridden the veto by a large margin.

The Senate roll-call showed 44 yeas to 28 nays, or 4 less than the two-thirds majority necessary to enact the measure without the approval of the President. The vote in the House was 258 to 54, or 50 more than the required number.

Although it was reported that a new bonus bill might be introduced today, it was certain that the bonus fight would not be resumed but at least until the next session of Congress which will begin on December 4.

The Senate roll call was as follows:

To override the veto.—Republicans: Brandagee, Bursum, Capper, Colt, Cummins, Curtis, Gooding, Hale, Harrod, Jones of Washington, Kellogg, LaFollette, Lenroot, Lodge, McCormick, McLean, McBall, Nelson, Oddie, Rawson, Shortridge, Stanfield, Southerland, Townsend and Watson of Indiana.

Democrats: Ashurst, Broussard, Culbertson, Fletcher, Garry, Hefflin, Hitchcock, McKellar, Ronsell, Reel, McGorray, Robinson, Shepard, Smith, Trammell and Walsh of Massachusetts. Total 17.

To sustain the veto.—Republicans: Ball, Borah, Calder, Cameron, Dillingham, DuPont, Edge, Ernst, Fernald, Hatch, Keyes, Moses, Nelson, New, Newberry, Pepper, Smith, Reed of Pennsylvania, Smoot, Sterling and Wadsworth.

Democrats: Dial, Lack, Myers, Owen, Shields, Underwood and Williams. Total 28.

TOWN PESTS

BANANA SPIDER AND MOUSE ENGAGE IN DEADLY BATTLE

A full grown mouse breathed its last within ten seconds after receiving a bite from the poisonous fangs of a "banana spider," a species of the tarantula, and the spider itself died within a few moments from the effects of a wound which the mouse inflicted in its battle for life. This all came about as the result of an experiment made by A. Battaglia, a Ridgway banana merchant, who, having often heard that the bite of a "banana spider" was extremely poisonous, wished to test the truth of the statement.

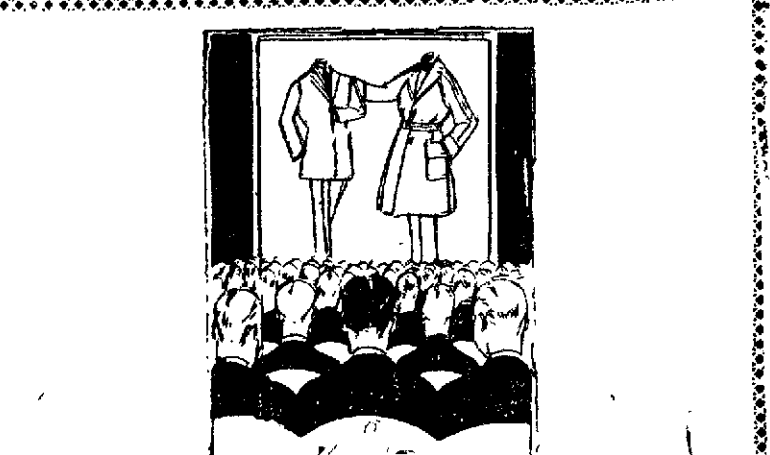

Mr. Battaglia secured the spider from a Johnsonburg customer who found it in a bunch of bananas purchased from him. The mouse was procured through an advertisement in a Ridgway paper and the two were put in a container, yesterday afternoon. The mouse immediately made a dash for the spider and bit it on a leg, and so far as Mr. Battaglia was able to ascertain this was the only wound inflicted on the tarantula. A short time afterwards the spider maneuvered into such a position that it was able to bite the mouse.

We wish to announce to the public that our store will be closed Saturday, September 23rd, on account of Holiday. We will therefore allow 10 per cent reduction on goods purchased Friday, September 22nd. We are prepared to supply you with a big line of hunting and camping goods.

To-Morrow This Stock of Stars will play to packed houses

Having a crowd in the store is nothing—any fire sale can do that—but making and keeping friends is what counts—and that is what we are going to do tomorrow.

The proof of the pudding is in the second helping and if we didn't know absolutely that we could satisfy you tomorrow—we'd never clutter up this edition of the paper inviting you.

Here are a few of the good things—a hundred other items that we can't mention here but that you'll be glad to mention to your friends later!

Clothcraft Clothes $27.00 to $35.00

CLEARFIELD COUNTY FAIR NEWS

: ISSUED EVERY DAY BY THE CLEARFIELD COUNTY FAIR ASSOCIATION :

School Kiddies Admitted Free Wed. Afternoon

The Third Ward school is sure going to be a busy spot on Wednesday afternoon about 1 o'clock. This school is going to be the rendezvous for all the school kiddies of the county. Promptly at 1:30 the kiddies will be formed in line and, headed by the Clearfield American Legion Band, will march to the Fair Grounds via William to Nichol to Park and thence on to the track at the gate nearest the Grounds entrance; past the Grandstand and disband just outside the lower gate in front of the lower stables.

All kiddies are to be admitted free when they come accompanied by their teacher and in a group.

One of the things that makes a lot of confusion is the late arrival of entries for exhibits. It is desired that this year's entries should be made as early as possible. Make your entry at once—it isn't necessary to bring in the exhibit at the time of making the entry, if you make it now, but make your entry so that the clerical work may go forward without delay and thus eliminate the usual rush Tuesday morning at the Fair Grounds. You will greatly aid the Fair Association and will also eliminate a waste of your own valuable time caused by the confusion at the Park.

FAIR OPENS AT 10 A. M. TUESDAY

The Park Association and the County Agricultural Society have both erected new buildings in order to be prepared to display the best products of our Clearfield County farms.

To make this a successful Fair we must have the farmer's co-operation.

This is a year of plenty. The premiums are liberal.

SHOW THAT YOU ARE INTERESTED by sending to the Fair the best your farm produces in Livestock, Poultry, Grains, Fruits and Vegetables, making one grand collection that all can see what is produced in our County. It will be properly displayed, and classified to be Judged, and Premiums awarded according to merit.

This is the real object of a County Fair and brings about agricultural educational features which will be far reaching in the future.

Send in your Exhibits Monday.

Entries will close Tuesday at 10 A. M.

All Superintendents will be on duty Monday morning.

All entries prior to Monday, Sept. 25th, will be entered at Room No. 1, Keystone Building.

Articles sent in will be well taken care of.

Make Your Entries Early To Avoid Confusion

Many times, in wandering about the exhibits of grains, fruits, vegetables, etc., one hears the remark, "I've got better stuff than that at home." Now the premiums are large enough this year in all the classes to make it worth your while to bring the best that you have on your farm for exhibition. The farmers who exhibited at the Grampian Fair this week have caught the idea and the showings of fruits, grains, vegetables and other things is mighty fine with a lot of good natured competition among the exhibitors. It is this sort of friendly competition that brings out the better exhibits and if you producers will realize this, this year's agricultural exhibit will far surpass anything yet shown.

This competition is open to every farmer in Clearfield County. This means that the parts of the county not so well adapted to the raising of produce.

Two errors crept into our stories in yesterday's FAIR NEWS. The office of the Fair Manager will be shifted from the Keystone Building Monday morning instead of Tuesday morning as stated. Ex-Lieut. Emery will do his stunt flying on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons and will carry passengers every day of the Fair, morning and afternoon.

MANY A LAUGH IN GREASED PIG AFFAIR

One of the greatest laugh-makers—the old fashioned greased pig catching contest—will be held on Wednesday and Thursday afternoon between the first and second races. A good sized porker will be well covered with the slipperiest of grease and turned loose in the oval for all comers to catch—if they can.

It will be well worth entering this contest, as the Fair management has secured two eight-week-old piggies for the occasion and the lucky person will have the nucleus for many a cold morning breakfast after securely holding the greased pig for the stipulated length of time—no rules, no holds barred—just catch the piggie.

In yesterday's FAIR NEWS we said something about the horse-racing news. Unfortunately we are unable to do this today as Mr. Dallas Guppy, the Racing Secretary, left unexpectedly for Apollo, where he is getting in touch with some racing men who have some extra speedy horseflesh. It is Mr. Guppy's intention to induce these horse owners to come to Clearfield Fair for the racing.

ducts may have something that is out of the ordinary but he will have an opportunity to compete with his more fortunately located neighbor.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Smaller than ever, but still the event of the year to thousands of the passing generation who watched the war of the rebellion come and go, the fifty-sixth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will open in Des Moines, Iowa, next Sunday. Only 15,000 veterans of the Grand Army are expected to be able to attend this year's encampment.

Nine auxiliary conventions and sixteen separate reunions are expected to bring a total of 75,000 during the week.

Two thousand colored veterans are expected here to hold their first reunion at this year's gathering. Shiloh, Vicksburg and Gettysburg survivors will come from all parts of the country to march in the parade and attend the campfire ceremonies.

The average age of veterans who will attend the encampment this year is said to be 80 years.

Clearfield borough Council is up against a just complaint from the residents along Front street, which is the complainants' allege, possibly "the most traveled dirt street in the borough." This is true now and will be more so upon completion of the Lakes to the Sea Highway, the increased traffic upon which will undoubtedly force 95 per cent. of local traffic down Front street inasmuch as it is a main thoroughfare thru the town and the shortest and quickest route to the West Side or extreme lower end of town.

The complainants ask to have the street paved and it should be paved, but right here is Council's problem. Where are the funds to come from? If this street or any other street, but the two remaining feeder or main arteries into the town, is to be paved there is just one way it can be done, and that way has already been pointed out by council to delegations of citizens who asked to have Locust street paved a couple of years ago and West Third avenue last year.

When the aforementioned delegations asked to have these streets paved Council told them that the plan for street paving in Clearfield would have to be changed. Heretofore all paving has been done by the Borough alone, while the law of Pennsylvania now allows the Council to assess the cost of such paving or improvement against the abutting property owners. When the paving plan was first adopted it was alright because it was necessary to pave the main streets or arteries in and into the town through a community of interest spirit and because the improvement was a benefit to all. The paving of any but a main artery is a benefit primarily to the abutting property owners alone, and only occasionally or incidentally to the remainder of the townspeople.

That being so the present Council has decided on the above mentioned occasions that all street paving to be done in the future must in all justice to the Borough finances, be paid for by the abutting property owners on each street in accordance with the Pennsylvania statute previously referred to, and according to the plan in force in DuBois, Altoona, Tyrone, Philipsburg and all the other municipalities round about Clearfield and for that matter throughout the entire state.

That is the proposition now confronting Council and the residents of Front street, which, if it should be found possible to pave the same would require Council to pay 50 per cent. of the cost of the improvement for all but one block of the five blocks to be paved, inasmuch as only the property on the east side of the street would be assessable under the law, the west side abutting on the river front, the two public parks and the property of the School District, which could not be assessed with the cost of such public improvement.

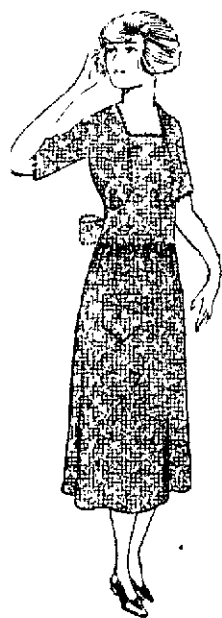

As we said before, the paving on Front street, for the reasons advanced, we believe to be a necessity; let us hope the Highway Department of Council and special committee of property owners on the street may work out a plan for same at the meeting to be held in the Council Chamber, Friday evening, September 29th.

Gifts That Last

There's a lasting satisfaction in giving such gifts as you will find here. The slogan of the national jewelers' association has become one of household use and folks are turning to it more and more. They are giving gifts that last in preference to the little geegaws that are lost or broken quickly and do not carry with them the spirit in which you gave it.

Frocks

Never Have They Been
So Attractively "Different"

FROCKS! Really they are highlights in the Ready-to-Wear section. You will notice styles that are far removed from the commonplace, and so graceful you will instantly know they include several that will prove more becoming than any you've ever worn. Each one is an exceptionally good value.

Russian styles are especially attractive in supple Canton Satin, or "blistered" silks. The low-bloused bodice and draped skirt that fastens at the side and effective Russian embroidery are all characteristically Russian.

Braid, in many chic ways, helps make many cloth Frocks the success they are. While the low-bloused styles are well represented, braid smartly trims some in basque styles with semi-circular skirts.

MODES OF THE MOMENT IN

New Fall Apparel

FEATURE VALUES THAT ARE NOTEWORTHY

Now chilly days herald the approach of Winter. Are you prepared with new warm Apparel? The most varied selection of seasonable new Apparel is here at the Store. It emphasizes quality, exceptional value and decided style attraction. Prices are unusually low for garments of such signal worth.

Suits

A Versatile Selection Assures Becomingness

Never before have we had so many attractive Suits in such sound styles as we have this season. They absolutely assure becomingness. Sport and Street models in conservative styles and made up in fine Twill, Herringbone and Tricot materials, accentuate a wide style range and splendid tailoring. The prices are most reasonable.

FUR WRAPS AND COATS

You will find here a very remarkable assemblage of Fur Wraps and Coats, each one a marvel of perfect skins and adept workmanship. Lustrous Seals, Caracul, Mink or Muskrat, many contrasted with other Furs, are modeled in the latest styles, and are the highest type Furs obtainable anywhere.

Graceful Wraps

Have Quality and Distinction

Interpreting the best of Fall Wrap styles yet adhering to a very modest price range considering the high quality of the garments, Wraps here present one of the finest selections we have ever had. Fabrics of definite quality and beauty are linked with charming new colors and luxurious furs.

TOPCOATS With Swagger Lines That Flare

Of dominant style are Topcoats of English blanket cloth, camel's hair or swagger mixtures. Many models are without belts with the new flared back. Raccoon or fox fur collars some smart Coats of high grade camel's hair.

FUR TRIMS Beautiful Wraps Of Pile Fabrics

The low-bloused Russian style with large, graceful sleeves, side closing and fur luxuriously used for collars, cuffs or decorative bandings is a distinct wrap favorite. It is only one of the new stylish Wraps here.

The furs that trim new Wraps are noteworthy. Caracul in black or beige, beautiful lustrous fox pelts, shaggy wolf—and squirrel or mole with new clever trimming methods—these are distinct assets on Wraps.

Clearfield today extends a hearty welcome to Dr. John M. Thomas, President of State College.

More children should be educated to the various trades and less to the "white collar" occupations, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis today told delegates to the American Insurance Union in session at Columbus, Ohio.

"The farmer and the industrial worker make up ninety per cent of our population, while only ten per cent are in professional life," said Secretary Davis. "Yet most of our whole educational system is equipped to turn out boys and girls fitted solely for the so-called 'white collar' occupations. To educate 100 per cent of our children for less than 10 per cent of our jobs is utterly futile and ultimately will lead to social, political and economic chaos."

"Today the 'white collar' occupations are crowded to overflowing; our youth is flocking in unseemly throngs to the cluttered office buildings while we are lacking in the skilled craftsmen and artists necessary to maintain production on farm, in mill and factory, where wages are often far higher than in the crowded 'white collar' occupations."

Secretary Davis said the ultimate outcome of this system continued without reform or amendment would be the creation of a nation where every man and woman would have book learning and none the learning of the hands, which he declares is "so vital to national prosperity and progress."

"We must restore the dignity of labor by teaching the trades in our schools," the Labor Secretary added.

GRADE CROSSING KILLINGS

The whole country would be horrified if 1,000 people should be killed in a railroad accident. There would be investigations and endless discussions and suggestions for greater safety. Nearly 2,000 are killed every year as the result of getting in the way of trains at grade crossings. Not much is done to make such crossings safer.

Moreover, nobody seems to learn any lessons from the frightful casualties. About the same number meet death from the same cause every year; about the same number are injured. The figures read like the reports of battles. In 1917, 1,969 were killed and 4,764 injured; in 1918, 1,852 were killed and 4,683 were injured; in 1919, 1,784 were killed and 4,611 were injured; in 1920, 1,791 were killed and 5,077 were injured; and in 1921, 1,705 were killed and 4,868 were injured.

In very large part these accidents must be the fault of the nature of the railroad crossing. Just now the country is spending millions of dollars to improve its roads. This is giving importance to the office of those charged with laying out and building highways and a better grade of officials is resulting.

In view of these terrible losses from imperfectly constructed railroad crossings, the engineering skill now available ought to turn attention to improving conditions, not only of the improved roads but every road that intersects a railway.

BRUTE BEHIND THE WHEEL

(By BIRD S. PATTERSON)

I read with much interest and strong approval the account in your New York letter of a motorist who stopped his auto to spare the life of a field mouse crossing the road. It brought to my mind an entirely different story told me recently by a friend, who is a prominent Pittsburgh business man. He said he stopped at a hotel in Bedford, Pa., the night before Labor Day. The next morning the night clerk asked him if he had heard a shot, to which he replied in the negative. Then the clerk told this story:

He was sitting on the hotel porch late at night when he heard loud voices. In a moment there shot into the circle of light in front of the hotel an auto containing five young creatures, three male, two female. A dog was lying asleep close to the curb in front of the hotel. He was spied by the male beast at the wheel of the auto and he immediately swerved the machine from the middle of the road so that it passed over the poor dog breaking the animal's back.

The whole party of beasts in human form, male and female, broke into loud laughter and sped on. What their character and condition were can best be judged by their conduct. The clerk picked up the dog, and finding its condition hopeless, kindly put it out of misery with a revolver shot. It is only a pity that the names of the vile creatures guilty of this horrible act cannot be published and held up to the public execration they deserve.

PINCHOT STRONG IN PHILADELPHIA

City Committee Pledges Support to Whole Ticket.

MEETING VERY BARRICADED

Candidates Discussed Situation Before Representative Gathering of U. S. and Women Workers—Pepper and Reed Pay Tribute to Forester.

Philadelphia, Sept. 20. The Republicans of the city of Philadelphia, and that means virtually all the people of this city, are for Gifford Pinchot and the rest of the Republican ticket. This fact was brought out last evening by a few days ago when the Republican City Committee unanimously endorsed the ticket in a meeting that was fairly charged with good feeling and enthusiasm.

As everybody knows a majority of Philadelphians who voted at the primary election cast their ballots for General Alter. Members of the Republican City Committee favored Alter as against Pinchot. They not only favored him but worked hard to make him the nominee.

But all that happened at the nominating primary. When the result was announced and it was shown that the Republicans of Pennsylvania desired

GIFFORD PINCHOT

Gifford Pinchot as their standard bearer for the high office of Governor, Philadelphia Republicans turned in for Pinchot and the entire set of nominees just as earnestly and vigorously as they had previously supported Mr. Alter. In doing this they but followed the action of General Alter and the friends of General Alter, all of whom are for the staunch Republican ticket from United States Senator and Governor down to the candidates for the General Assembly.

The meeting of the Republican City Committee proved a disappointing experience to the Democratic leaders who have been going up and down the State loudly declaring that the Republican workers of Philadelphia were lukewarm this year and that the usual majority would not be forthcoming. It is a good guess that the opposition has now changed its mind regarding the Quaker City, though, of course, Democratic leaders are not to be expected to alter their tactics in endeavoring to have the impression go out that things are not harmonious in G. O. P. circles. The average Democratic boss loves to stick to a first statement even if convinced in subsequent investigation.

Mr. Pinchot was the principal speaker at the meeting held at the Bellevue-Stratford. Every leader of the party of any importance, women as well as men, attended the meeting.

Senator Pepper and Senator Reed preceded the Forester on the speaking program.

Standing Solidly.

Mr. Pinchot's speech, brief and very clear, was a reiteration of his earlier campaign promises. He said that he felt the Republicans of the State, by their vote for him, had endorsed his platform, and that their vote had with him the force of a popular mandate to put his principles into operation if he is elected Governor.

"Everywhere I have been," he said, "I have found Republican standing solidly and enthusiastically by the ticket. Nowhere has any appreciable defection appeared."

"Not only these Republicans who supported my candidacy in the primary, but those who were for my opponent are backing the ticket and getting together for an impressive victory in November. The Republican organization is putting its shoulder to the wheel, and these solid organizations of men and women that were behind my candidacy are giving their best efforts to the campaign."

Forester Loudly Cheered.

Mr. Pinchot declared that "the results of the primary election have been accepted by the whole party," and said he felt certain that Republican voters everywhere looked confidently forward to the time when the Governor, with the help of the Legislature, and all elements of the party, and with the forces of public opinion behind him will begin to put into effect the platform endorsed by the Republican majority at the primary.

The Forester was loudly applauded by the members of the City Committee and the Organization Committee of the Republican party. In a speech of welcome to the Forester, the City Committee declared that the Republican party of Philadelphia is in the strongest position to carry out its platform of reform. It is the only party that has the courage to stand for the people and to fight for the principles of justice and equity. SCANDALMONGERS WORKING OVERTIME

Thus far the authorities have no definite clue as to the driver of the car which killed little Mary Haverstock on the State road near the Children's Home a couple of weeks ago. Despite this fact scandalmongers, mental defectives and other undesirable are continually starting rumors concerning the identity or supposed identity of the perpetrators of this outrage.

A rumor gained wide circulation yesterday that a prominent local young man had confessed to being the driver of the car. The story grew out of some fellow's diseased imagination as there is absolutely nothing to it.

Such stories should not be given ear. When, or if, the perpetrator of the crime is located the facts will be made known by the authorities and the newspapers, at once, and until that time pass up the lies being noised about.

ing the accident, said he contained the tracks where the car left the road and it was a straight line without having skidded at all.

The defense opened this morning by calling a number of the leading citizens of Hazardside, who testified to Simendinger's condition the afternoon of the fatal drive, and a few minutes before the accident. Squire John Sedgwick, Dr. Morris, Dr. W. C. Pidgeon, transacted business with Simendinger between 3 and 4 p. m. of that day and all said he showed no signs of intoxication.

Ralph Harris and Elsie Dale, of Hazardside, who saw Simendinger immediately following the accident, said he appeared to be sober and normal.

Simendinger was called to the stand in his own defense at 10 o'clock and detailed the story of the afternoon's occurrence. He said he had two drinks in the drug store, one of whiskey and the other lemon extract and alcohol. He said he was normal and all right on the trip and never drove more than 25 miles per hour at any stage of the journey toward Hazardside. He said when he attempted to take the curve near the junction of the concrete and brick road, on account of the slippery condition of the road he traveled on the left hand side of the curve, the left wheels of his car slipped over the curb and in attempting to get back onto the road he pulled his car to the right, causing it to skid and before he could straighten it up he crashed into the fence. He said he didn't know if he had been hurt and when he saw the flames shooting up through the hood of his car he raised the hood with the aid of a stick and seeing his rain coat on the ground, assisted by another man, he then walked down to Dr. Miller's office and had his hand, injured in the wreck, dressed, and then went home in the care of Elsie Dale, who testified he was sober.

Simendinger was severely grilled by Mr. Arnold on cross-examination, and stated that he was very well.

When the defense at Hazardside, called the witness, who got in the car to the right, and Simendinger did not appear to be intoxicated.

tioned the party against going out on the drive that afternoon, that some of them would be killed, was called to the stand and said he had not seen any of them that day and never made such statement. District Attorney Arnold went after the witness and made him admit that he had had drinks at the Simendinger drug store, but not on this Thanksgiving Day.

Simendinger was recalled for a question or two by the district attorney and this ended the testimony, a short recess being taken at 11 o'clock.

SPECIAL-SIX SEDAN

Studebaker $2050

THE Studebaker Special-Six Sedan will win your admiration at first glance. After you have examined it you will be even more delighted with it. When you have ridden in it you won't be satisfied with anything else.

The market does not offer a more beautiful enclosed body. Certainly none is built of better materials and finer workmanship. It is a striking example of the handicraft of Studebaker artisans.

Everything is in exquisite taste. Its distinctive body lines are enhanced by massive headlights, the graceful cowl lamps and the courtesy light just above the running board on the driver's side, which illuminates the roadway in passing other cars at night.

Four doors that swing wide open; simple, automatic window lifts raise or lower plate glass windows; opalescent corner lights; massive headlights; artistic coach lamps; courtesy light; cowl ventilator; windshield wiper and rain vicer; jeweled eight-day clock; exhaust heater; thief-proof transmission lock.

Inside, the inviting depth of the cushions, the subdued harmony of upholstery, the soft carpeting and the completeness of appointments offer an irresistible appeal.

It is mounted on the same Special-Six chassis which has won the enthusiasm of thousands of owners for its dependable performance, power, comfort and economy in fuel and tires.

The Studebaker Special-Six Sedan offers the utmost closed car refinement—and at moderate cost. At the new low price of $2050 it represents the greatest closed car value that Studebaker ever offered.

The name Studebaker is your assurance of satisfaction.

last witness and the most spectacular one for the prosecution. On the stand today, she declared she knew her daughter and Dr. Bryson were not married when she visited them at their "love nest" in Cassville several months prior to the tragedy.

Girl's Mother on Stand.

"How did you know they were not married?" she was asked.

"They told me so," she replied.

Under cross-examination she was asked why she had given evidence under oath at the coroner's inquest to the effect that she believed Dr. Bryson and her daughter were married.

"I was grief-stricken," she declared. "I wanted to keep them from sullying my little girl's name."

"Did you not go to Washington and help make arrangements for your daughter to desert her husband and elope with Dr. Bryson?" asked counsel for the defense.

"I did not," the victim's mother declared.

She admitted she met Dr. Bryson in Washington before her daughter and he left. Checks she had indorsed were produced and she admitted the indorsements were correct. Six letters written by her were also identified by her.

Tired of "Simple Life."

Probably the most important fact developed by the prosecution was that Mrs. Helen Irene Haines, termed by her chauffeur husband a "butterfly woman," tired of the simple life of the village to which they had fled. She longed for the bright lights of Broadway, where she had once been a flower, and urged Dr. Bryson to forsake his practice and take her away. He refused and quarrels ensued. There were several clashes. On the day of the tragedy they fought because Mrs. Haines threatened to leave.

This fact was brought out in the testimony of James Corbin and was part of the ante-mortem statement which Mrs. Haines made in his presence just before she died at a hospital here.

WILL STUDY FOR MINISTRY

On Tuesday last Arnold Lansberry one of our faithful young men let for Gettysburg, where he will enter college with the ministry in view. We are proud of Arnold and glad to know that one of our young men feels called of God to this noble profession. To our mind there is no better or nobler calling than that of the Gospel ministry. We congratulate Arnold on this step he is about to take and we want to assure him that we shall always be interested in him and his work. We will miss him in our work here. His place in the choir will be hard to fill. He was always faithful to his church and school, and ready to serve when called upon. May every success possible be yours, is the sincere wish of your pastor.—The Pastor's Helper of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church.

Mr. Lansberry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lansberry, of Merrill street, and a fine young man. He is a graduate of Clearfield High School and feeling the call to labor in the Lord's vineyard, he decided to dedicate himself to the ministry and has entered Gettysburg Seminary to train himself for that important profession. He is made of the right stuff and that he will succeed in his undertaking goes without saying.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Ed McKinley, of Detroit, Mich., are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Blake, Mrs. McKinley's parents.

Messrs Cecil Will and Mervill Weaver left yesterday for Philadelphia, and will enter University of Pennsylvania as students. Mr. Robert Wright left on Monday for that institution, and on Sunday Mr. George Wrigley will travel in that direction and enter as a student in that college.

Irvin Schultz, who at present is residing at Karthaus, visited with his brother-in-law Harry Weisgarber, South Side, on Tuesday and a part of Wednesday.

The members of Joshua Earl Sipes Post, American Legion, will adhere to the suggestion made in the Progress letter some time ago relative to the purchase of a suitable flag to adorn the high staff on the campus of the High School, and will proceed at once to procure one. If a subscription paper was to be circulated among the citizens there is no doubt who ever but what a sum of money sufficient for the purchase of a large flag could be secured.

Miss Gretchen Leib and Miss Jane Teats will leave the latter part of the week for Grove City college to again resume their course of study for another year.

Mrs. Harry Gates has gone to her old home in Pottersdale where she expects to spend a full week visiting her parents and other kin folks. She was accompanied by her children.

Printer Fred Robinson left yesterday for Pittsburgh where he will spend several days transacting business relative to his line of trade.

Master Bobbie Robinson entertained some half dozen of his young friends Wednesday evening. Ample refreshments were served all around which were heartily enjoyed by the hungry little shavers.

Yesterday was Doctor Erhard's birthday. We promised him faithfully not to divulge the exact number of years that he has enjoyed the fine scenery of Knox township and also in this vicinity, but will proclaim that he has a number of years ahead of him yet before he reaches the age of some of the Civil War veterans. We dare not say too much on this subject as he is our Chief Burgess and might order the Chief of Police to punch us for "speeding."

"Our Schools" were a little disappointed in the results and the management of the football game last Saturday. A certified list of high school players did not come with the Bellwood boys and Prof. Norris secured one from Mr. William Sitman, Jr., on the field. This was the best that could be done under the slip in the management, but it developed that all the Bellwood boys were not high school students regardless of what Mr. Sitman said over his signature. Here was a breach of faith and Curwensville can hardly be blamed for it. We are sports enough to take real sports at their word, but in this case we were deceived. Our boys played a splendid game against the above odds in experience and age and have every reason to feel proud of their good showing. Coach Black should feel complimented on his splendid work. The score stood 8 to 25 in favor of the Bellwood team.

On Saturday of this week on the Curwensville field our boys will play the Tyrone High School Team. Tyrone treated us so fairly and clean last year that we have no doubt about them this year. They are a nice clean set of boys backed up by the faculty in Tyrone. This promises to be a splendid game. It will be all high school boys on either side. The receipts at the gates last Saturday were $60.00. $50.00 of this was paid to the Bellwood team. The sale of the season tickets amounted to $59.00 making a total of $119.00. The high school football team desires to thank the Curwensville people for this loyal support. It helps them to play ball. On next Saturday, September 23rd may they not expect you at the game with your cheer and interest? On the following Saturday our boys will go to Williamsport to play.

On Monday evening of this week The Curwensville Teachers' Association entertained the School Directors and their wives and Principal Grant Norris and his family at dinner. Irvin Park at six o'clock in the evening. It was gratifying to note that all the teachers and directors were present, together with Superintendent W. P. Trostle and his wife. The menu consisted of a most sumptuous repast of spring chicken, various kinds of sandwiches, pickles, olives, potato salad, cantaloupes, apples, pears, cake, etc., and coffee "Like your mother used to make." One teacher remarked that if she got sick she would send for Dr. King. He immediately told her not to do it as Dr. King would be sick too. Viewed from the bridge it looked like a real geyser en-entertainment and the teachers and directors gathered around the big fire reminded one of primeval days when the nymphs danced in the forest and the witches stewed their gruel. After the festivities on the park grounds Miss Helen Norris invited the entire party to her home where the evening was spent in songs and ghost stories of olden days. Supt. Trostle and his wife took first honors in story telling and Prof. Hege, of the Pike township schools, was a near second. This banquet was given by the Teachers' Association in return for a reception and luncheon given by Mrs. Grant Norris to the teachers and Directors and their wives last Friday night. Supt. Trostle said that these social affairs are of greater use to teaching than so many professional meetings. It gets the teachers acquainted, brings about, as he said, "the elbow touch" and furnishes life in greater "abundance."

A number of parents have asked Prof. Norris to try to do something to alleviate the crowded conditions in the seventh and eighth grades. It seems that everything is being done that can be done. When one tax payer was told that there were 68 pupils in the eighth grade he said he would like to see their names. He did not doubt the word of Mr. Norris but merely wanted to see the names. As he said "Seeing is believing." We have secured the names of the eighth grade children and will publish them next week we shall ask for the names of the seventh grade children. This may be a means of getting his interest in providing more room. Some have thought that a building proposition would increase the taxes too much at this time. Here is where some of us tax payers do not take the right view. If more room is not provided we stand in danger of losing our appropriation from the state for not providing adequate room and this would very much increase our taxes above what they would be if we were to issue bonds and build. In other words our cheapest way out of the present congested conditions is to build. It is not necessary that a building proposition should increase the taxes very materially, but if we do not build the taxes will have to be much higher next year than if we did build. Then our children are entitled to school room. "They are better than sheep." This office will entertain a discussion on this subject. The school board wants the citizens to realize what is needed and then help to meet the situation.

Following are the eighth grade children in one room:

Minnie Ardary, James Ammerman, Mary Aughenbaugh, Harry Bloom, Dorsey Bloom, Irma Bloom, Chester Bloom, Genevieve Buzzard, Elizabeth Biresel, Margaret Bruneth, Elizabeth Curtin, Esther Cochran, Catherine Cook, Albert Conley, Christine Collins, Elizabeth Draucher, Russell Dickey, Matilda DuBek, LoDema Edmiston, Elmo Erhard, Park Erhard, Clara Farwell, Constance Cavor, Rose Gallagher, Erma Giar, Althea Hunter, Mayme Haines, Hazel Had-den, Merl Hockman, Dorothea Hed-don, Thornton Harmie, Nora Johnson, John Konec, Henry Kirk, Raymond Knepp, Roxie Knepp, Florence Knepp, Robert Knehart, Esther Larc, Elma Luzier, Verna Lippert, John

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Read This Letter from Mrs. W. S. Hughes

Greenville, Del.—"I was under the impression that my eldest daughter had some internal trouble as ever since the first time her sickness appeared she had to go to bed and even had to quit school once for a week. I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound myself so I gave it to her and she has received great benefit from it. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish, as I cannot say too much about what your medicine has done for me and for my daughter."—Mrs. Wm. S. Hughes, Greenville, Delaware.

Mothers and oftentimes grandmothers have taken and have learned the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So they recommend the medicine to others. The best test of any medicine is what it has done for others. For nearly fifty years we have published letters from mothers, daughters, and women, young and old, recommending the Vegetable Compound. They know what it did for them and are glad to tell others. In your own neighborhood are women who know of its great value.

All are Cordially Invited to Attend
Formal Fashion Show

The lore of the old world has inspired the foremost modistes of Paris and America, and by artistic adaptations of these age-old creations they have designed costumes of rare beauty and style distinction for this Autumn season. In viewing this inaugural of Fall fashions you will note that many blouses are brightened up with Russian embroideries, that smart chapeaux have pilfered eccentric Egyptian motifs, that frocks align themselves with Grecian draperies, that necklines hearken back to the Moyen Age in France, and even far off China puts in a word about Mongolian sleeves.
